Missile Plans Part of Spiral In Arms Race

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration plans to move ahead with initial measures to offset Soviet deployment of a new missile defense system without waiting for the outcome of diplomatic efforts to freeze U.S. and Soviet nuclear missile armaments at their present level.

Officials said today that only this double-track plan of action — taking countermeasures and diplomatic steps at the same time — would prudently protect vital U.S. security interests.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk warned at a news conference Wednesday that the world's two greatest powers are on the verge of a new and costly phase in the nuclear arms race.

"We would regret very much the lifting of the arms race to

400 Depart In Cuyahoga Welfare Fuss

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nearly 400 Cuyahoga County welfare workers walked off their jobs today after breaking off a meeting with representatives of the county commissioners Wednesday.

The workers, members of Local 1746, State, County and Municipal Employees Union, plan mass picketing of the three main county welfare department offices and the downtown county administration building.

The welfare workers have made six demands—wage adjustments; a signed grievance procedure; better working conditions; a signed statement by Welfare Director Eugene F. Burns that he will not influence employees against joining the union; reduction of work loads and changes in classification.

The welfare department says it plans to keep all offices open and provide emergency service to some 27,000 clients.

The union is primarily made up of social service workers who deal directly with clients. Its total membership is 525, or about one-third of the 1,500 employees in the department.

The county commissioners Wednesday tried to head off the strike by agreeing to an afternoon meeting and appointing a three-man committee to negotiate.

The committee proposed a 10-day cooling off period and further negotiations. The unions said it had been promised in a private meeting and protested the presence of newsmen.

Publisher Agrees To Alter Kennedy Book, Serial Copy

NEW YORK (AP) — The chief counsel for Harper & Row said today the book publishing firm "will be very glad" to settle the Kennedy book controversy with Mrs. John F. Kennedy along the lines of her out-of-court agreement with Look magazine.

Requested deletions and modifications that pertain to the personal life of Mrs. Kennedy and her children will allow Look to publish a four-part serialization of the book, "The Death of a President," as scheduled. The first part of the 80,000-word series will be in the Look issue of Jan. 10.

When informed of the agreement reached Wednesday night, Edward S. Greenbaum, attorney for Harper & Row said: "Harper & Row will be very glad to make a similar arrangement with Mrs. Kennedy."

Both Mrs. Kennedy and Gardner Cowles, chairman of the an entirely new plateau of major expenditures," Rusk said.

"We would like to see some means developed by which both sides would not have to go into wholly new and unprecedented levels of military expenditures, with perhaps no perceptible result in the total strategic situation."

In plain language, officials said, the Soviet Union and the United States are threatened with having to spend perhaps $30 billion apiece in nuclear weapons development without really changing the strategic balance in the world. The administration's idea is that they should find some way to freeze the present balance and save the money for other uses.

Last month McNamara said at a news conference at President Johnson's Texas ranch that the Soviet Union had begun deploying a system of defensive missiles designed to destroy attacking missiles.

His initial countermeasure proposal is to improve U.S. striking power with the production of a multibillion-dollar Poseidon missile as a successor to the present submarine-borne Polaris.

McNamara added that the Soviet deployment so far had not upset the balance between the two powers. But he also made clear that he thought the United States should go forward on new programs.

In recent days U.S. officials disclosed that work was under way on a new approach to the Soviets in the disarmament field to try to control this new stage of the missile race before it got out of hand. This in turn gave rise to general speculation that the administration would delay countermeasures until Soviet reaction was known.

TB Hospitals Unhappy over OSU Switch

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some employees of the Ohio Tuberculosis Hospital complained today about the way in which its operations were assigned to Ohio State University.

In an unsigned letter to Dr. Emmett W. Arnold, state health director, the employees said they were "truly appalled" that Dr. Robert H. Browning, superintendent of the hospital since it was founded 15 years ago, had not been provided any information about the switch.

Arnold announced that Ohio State University Hospital would assume direction of medical operations at the hospital. He insisted it was not a transfer of jurisdiction of the hospital from the Health Department to the university, however.

The switch came after nurses submitted resignations because their pay is lower than that of nurses at University Hospital. Arnold insisted, however, the resignations had nothing to do with the move.

The letter said 80 per cent of the hospital's 250 employees "are seriously concerned about the manner in which you . . . have chosen to arrange for the transfer of the operation of the hospital . . ."

board of Cowles Communications, Inc., publishers of Look, issued statements shortly after the agreement was announced. "I hope," said Cowles, "that the controversy between the Kennedy family and Harper & Row will be speedily resolved because Cass Canfield (chairman of the executive committee of Harper & Row) has been extremely helpful in the discussions concerning the serialization."

"The public should not be deprived of the opportunity to read" author William Manchester's manuscript, Cowles added.

Mrs. Kennedy said in her statement that "Look magazine has agreed to remove or modify all those passages in the magazine version of 'The Death of a President' relating to the personal life" of herself and her children.

LBJ Claims Disagreement Not Personal

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)

— President Johnson says he and grumbling Democratic governors have no quarrel on personal grounds but simply disagree, at least to some extent, on programs, patronage and politics.

Johnson conscious of criticisms aimed at him at last week's caucus of Democratic governors at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., met Wednesday with nine Democratic state executives at the LBJ Ranch, then summoned newsmen and introduced Gov. Harold E. Hughes of Iowa. Hughes was chairman of the West Virginia caucus.

While the chief executive stayed in the background, the Iowa governor said there were serious problems in carrying out some of Johnson's Great Society programs in the states.

But he said the governors, after a "very open and very frank" discussion, were leaving the ranch reinforced "in the complete support of the policies, the principles and the precepts as set forth by the President of the United States and as the leader of the free world."

One of those in attendance was Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri, who had said last week that unless Johnson changed some policies and re-evaluated the political situation Democrats might well "start all over with a new candidate" in 1968.

Hearnes said nothing during the news conference. Later, however, he was asked if he was ready to retract his White Sulphur Springs statement.

"I'm not taking it back or reaffirming it," he said. He also stated that he wouldn't say anything in West Virginia that he wouldn't say at the LBJ Ranch.

Johnson conceded that the governors had complaints about the administration of some of his Great Society programs, about the distribution of federal patronage and about the way the Democratic National Committee functioned in the November election.

The President was asked about speculation that he would not run for re-election in 1968.

"I feel about that like I feel about most speculation," he replied. "I've got other things to do."

One newsman persisted and asked if he would run in 1968. "I'll cross that bridge when I get to it," Johnson said. "This is not 1968."

The governors on hand, apart from Hughes and Hearnes, were Dan K. Moore of North Carolina, Robert McNair of South Carolina, Mills E. Godwin Jr. of Virginia, Julett Smith of West Virginia, John Connally of Texas, Philip Hoff of Vermont and Karl Rolvaag of Minnesota.

Judge Orders Steelworkers Back to Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge has ordered 1,800 striking steelworkers back to work at a Kokomo, Ind., factory vital to manufacture of warplanes for Vietnam.

But U.S. District Judge Leonard P. Walsh stayed execution of the order until noon today to give the union time to appeal to higher court.

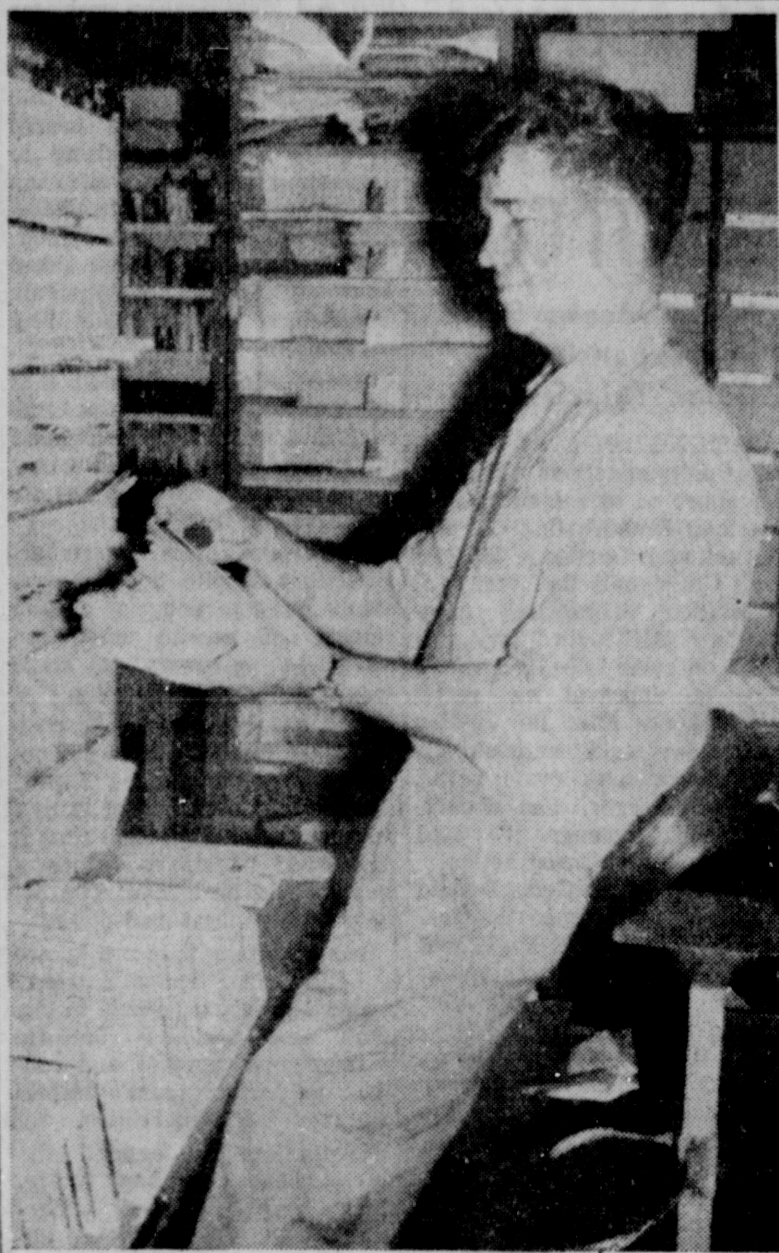

Thus, whether the strikers must return to work for 80 days under the provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act is up to the U.S. Court of Appeals. If the order is upheld the strikers must go back to work while bargaining is resumed. They have closed the factory of Union Carbide Corp. since Sept. 30. It is the major U.S. source of a vital metal alloy.

Vietnam Civilian Deaths Subject of Controversy

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — How many civilians are becoming casualties in South Vietnam.

The exact number of victims in two decades of fighting may never be known. Even today no accurate record is kept of battle-connected deaths and injuries among the 16 million civilians.

Figures from Vietnamese and American public and private sources indicate that this year's civilian toll has averaged about 1,000 a month, with at least three times that many wounded. If the figure on deaths is correct, the loss of 12,000 civilian lives this year would nearly parallel the battle deaths of American and Vietnamese military personnel. This total, based on figures available through Dec. 10 for the Americans and through November for the Vietnamese, is 13,270.

The guesses on civilian deaths, the best available from official sources here, are far below an estimate published today in the U.S. magazine Ramparts. It has an article by William F. Pepper saying that "conservative estimates" put civilian deaths currently at 100,000 a year.

Pepper is executive director of the New Rochelle (N.Y.) Commission on Human Rights and instructor in political science at Mercy College, Dobbs Ferry, N.Y. He spent several weeks in Vietnam last spring.

"The horror of what we are doing to the children of Vietnam — we, because napalm and white phosphorus are the weapons of America — is staggering," his article says.

Vandals Hit Station at Wilmington

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP) — Vandals Wednesday disabled radio station WMWM, just outside the western edge of Wilmington, and owner Frank Stratman said repairs cannot be completed in time to operate today.

Stratman said antenna feed units had been smashed about 300 feet from the studio sometime between 10:30 p.m. and 6:30 a.m. today. No estimate was made of the damage.

WMWM is a daytime station, but the studio was manned until 10:30 Wednesday night.

Stratman called the vandalism "possibly an act of 'sour grapes' over some of our controversial programming."

The sheriff's office was investigating, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation has been notified.

Yanks Hit Cong In Double Blow

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — Long-range U.S. B52 bombers delivered a double blow at Communist strongholds in Vietnam today.

One formation of the heavy bombers flew in from Guam to strike before dawn at Viet Cong bunkers and fortifications in War Zone C about 45 miles northwest of Saigon.

A second wave hit late in the afternoon at infiltrating North Vietnamese troops in the Demilitarized Zone between North and South Vietnam.

Amplifying an earlier report, the U.S. Navy reported that two Phantom Jets from the carrier Kitty Hawk shot down two slow-moving enemy planes with air-to-air missiles over the Gulf of Tonkin Tuesday night and the pilots saw them explode.

An earlier announcement said only that the enemy planes had disappeared from radar detection screens. The announcement today said the planes were detected as they were heading in the direction of the nuclear-powered U.S. cruiser Long Beach but did not say they were trying to attack her.

U.S. authorities also confirmed a report from Washington that 25 to 50 North Korean pilots are in North Vietnam, apparently training North Vietnamese fliers in air warfare.

In other developments:

— Prime Minister Harold Holt announced in Canberra that Australia is beefing up its 4,500-man contingent in Vietnam to 6,300 men early next year. He said Australia will send 900 more soldiers, the guided-missile destroyer Hobart and a squadron of eight Canberra jet bombers.

— Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, North Vietnam's defense minister, pledged to fight on until complete victory for the Communists, declaring in Hanoi that the Communists "are determined to fight and are sure to defeat" the Americans.

American pilots flew 81 bombing missions over North Vietnam Wednesday, and U.S. headquarters said generally poor weather limited most of the strikes to the southern part of the country.

The headquarters said one Navy A4 Skyhawk jet was shot down by ground fire and the pilot is missing. It was the 451st U.S. plane reported downed over North Vietnam in the war.

Today was the eighth day of B52 raids inside or around the Demilitarized zone. The repeated raids are designed to smash a buildup of North Vietnamese troops who U.S. authorities believe will be sent south.

The targets today, a U.S. spokesman said, were an infiltration route, a supply area and suspected elements of the reorganized 324B North Vietnamese division.

U.S. Willing To Meet Cong?

Rusk Won't Give Definite Notion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States appears to be holding up to the Communists the possibility that representatives of the Viet Cong might be included in their own right in any Vietnamese peace talks.

But the implication is still vague and without government commitment.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk would tell a news conference Wednesday only that "we are prepared to talk about the problem (of peace in Vietnam) without preconditions of any sort from either side."

In fact, Rusk declared, the United States is prepared to talk about preconditions, if the Communists would prefer that — and obviously in such circumstances the United States would be prepared to consider the issue of Viet Cong representation if the other side raised it.

Some authorities here privately believe if there ever is a Vietnamese conference the representatives of North Vietnam may simply turn up with a delegation from the Viet Cong, announce it is there and challenge the United States in effect to accept the delegation or break up the conference.

The issue has arisen currently because of the U.S. appeal transmitted to U.N. Secretary-General U Thant last Monday by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg. In his letter, he asked U Thant to do everything possible to get peace talks started.

The letter seemed to give U Thant virtually a blank check on behalf of the United States. It left open the possibility that he might arrange for some direct dealing between U.S. representatives and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Without any commitment on the Viet Cong issue or on specific cease-fire questions raised by newsmen, Rusk supported what he called "a maximum freedom of maneuver" for Thant.

"We are saying that we believe that the secretary-general should exercise his office to the fullest to explore all possibilities of a responsible discussion with the other side to bring this matter to a peaceful conclusion," Rusk said.

Santa Is Quite Different In Town Where He's Buried

Hardly a child in all this southern Adriatic city where St. Nicholas is buried will hang up a stocking Christmas Eve.

Bari is still a stronghold of the Befana, the kind-hearted, ugly, old broom-riding witch who used to bring presents to all Italian children. Bari's youngsters still wait for her on the eve of Epiphany, Jan. 6.

The Santa Claus of most of the Western world grew out of the story of San Nicola, the 4th-century bishop of Myra, in Asia Minor, whose body was stolen from the Saracens and brought here by Bari sailors in 1087.

The exultant city proclaimed him its saint and built the gray stone Romanesque Basilica of San Nicola in the crowded old quarter of the city.

Solon's Effort In Case May Be Important

MOSCOW (AP) — The sentencing of a young American to three years in a Soviet labor camp is expected in Moscow to hurt chances for U.S.-Soviet trade increases, something the Soviets want.

Buel Ray Wortham, 25, of North Little Rock, Ark., was sentenced Wednesday in Leningrad for stealing an antique statue of a bear from a Leningrad hotel and changing about $75 for black market rubles. He plans to appeal.

Wortham's congressman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., filed an affidavit to the court testifying to Wortham's good character. Mills is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and in a key position to affect the fate of the East-West trade bill in Congress.

The American Embassy termed Wortham's sentence "harsh and out of all proportion to the relatively minor legal infractions with which he was charged."

The Embassy expressed satisfaction, however, that the court freed Wortham's friend and codefendant, Craddock M. Gilmour Jr., 24, of Salt Lake City. Gilmour was fined $1,111 on the lesser charge of giving Wortham money to change illegally.

Four visiting U.S. congressmen warned Soviet officials last week that a harsh verdict in the trial would hurt chances for the trade bill. They stressed Mills' role.

The Soviets have long expressed interest in buying more from the United States. But American restrictions have left U.S.-Soviet trade at a small percentage of the potential. The trade bill is designed to remove some of these restrictions.

Hoffa Gets Delay

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teamsters Union president James R. Hoffa has been granted an additional 30 days—until Feb. 4—to ask the Supreme Court to reconsider its decision upholding his 1964 jury tampering conviction.

Santa Is Quite Different In Town Where He's Buried

The church here never emphasized the saint as a bearer of gifts. He was and still is portrayed more as a symbol of the link between the Western and Eastern Christian churches.

The big day for St. Nicholas in Bari comes each year in May, on the anniversary of the day the sailors came back with the saint's body.

A symbolic coffin is taken out to sea and brought into port escorted by the entire flag-decorated fishing fleet. There are feasts and religious ceremonies and street parades.

The children who do know about Santa Claus have no idea of the sleigh and reindeer and the stockings hung by the fireplace. They think the whiskered man in red carries his toys on a pack-laden gray donkey and puts them in shoes left at the foot of the bed.

The letter seemed to give U Thant virtually a blank check on behalf of the United States. It left open the possibility that he might arrange for some direct dealing between U.S. representatives and the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

Without any commitment on the Viet Cong issue or on specific cease-fire questions raised by newsmen, Rusk supported what he called "a maximum freedom of maneuver" for Thant.

"We are saying that we believe that the secretary-general should exercise his office to the fullest to explore all possibilities of a responsible discussion with the other side to bring this matter to a peaceful conclusion," Rusk said.

Santa Is Quite Different In Town Where He's Buried

Hardly a child in all this southern Adriatic city where St. Nicholas is buried will hang up a stocking Christmas Eve.

Bari is still a stronghold of the Befana, the kind-hearted, ugly, old broom-riding witch who used to bring presents to the children. Bari's youngsters still wait for her on the eve of Epiphany, Jan. 6.

The Santa Claus of most of the Western world grew out of the story of San Nicola, the 4th-century bishop of Myra, in Asia Minor, whose body was stolen from the Saracens and brought here by Bari sailors in 1087.

The exultant city proclaimed him its saint and built the gray stone Romanesque Basilica of San Nicola in the crowded old quarter of the city.

Solon's Effort In Case May Be Important

MOSCOW (AP) — The sentencing of a young American to three years in a Soviet labor camp is expected in Moscow to hurt chances for U.S.-Soviet trade increases, something the Soviets want.

Buel Ray Wortham, 25, of North Little Rock, Ark., was sentenced Wednesday in Leningrad for stealing an antique statue of a bear from a Leningrad hotel and changing about $75 for black market rubles. He plans to appeal.

Wortham's congressman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., filed an affidavit to the court testifying to Wortham's good character. Mills is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and in a key position to affect the fate of the East-West trade bill in Congress.

The American Embassy termed Wortham's sentence "harsh and out of all proportion to the relatively minor legal infractions with which he was charged."

The Embassy expressed satisfaction, however, that the court freed Wortham's friend and codefendant, Craddock M. Gilmour Jr., 24, of Salt Lake City. Gilmour was fined $1,111 on the lesser charge of giving Wortham money to change illegally.

Four visiting U.S. congressmen warned Soviet officials last week that a harsh verdict in the trial would hurt chances for the trade bill. They stressed Mills' role.

The Soviets have long expressed interest in buying more from the United States. But American restrictions have left U.S.-Soviet trade at a small percentage of the potential. The trade bill is designed to remove some of these restrictions.

400 Depart In Cuyahoga Welfare Fuss

CLEVELAND (AP) — Nearly 400 Cuyahoga County welfare workers walked off their jobs today after breaking off a meeting with representatives of the county commissioners Wednesday.

The workers, members of Local 1746, State, County and Municipal Employees Union, plan mass picketing of the three main county welfare department offices and the downtown county administration building.

The welfare workers have made six demands—wage adjustments; a signed grievance procedure; better working conditions; a signed statement by Welfare Director Eugene F. Burns that he will not influence employees against joining the union; reduction of work loads and changes in classification.

The welfare department says it plans to keep all offices open and provide emergency service to some 27,000 clients.

The union is primarily made up of social service workers who deal directly with clients. Its total membership is 525, or about one-third of the 1,500 employees in the department.

The county commissioners Wednesday tried to head off the strike by agreeing to an afternoon meeting and appointing a three-man committee to negotiate.

The committee proposed a 10-day cooling off period and further negotiations. The unions said it had been promised in a private meeting and protested the presence of newsmen.

Publisher Agrees To Alter Kennedy Book, Serial Copy

NEW YORK (AP) — The chief counsel for Harper & Row said today the book publishing firm "will be very glad" to settle the Kennedy book controversy with Mrs. John F. Kennedy along the lines of her out-of-court agreement with Look magazine.

Requested deletions and modifications that pertain to the personal life of Mrs. Kennedy and her children will allow Look to publish a four-part serialization of the book, "The Death of a President," as scheduled. The first part of the 80,000-word series will be in the Look issue of Jan. 10.

When informed of the agreement reached Wednesday night, Edward S. Greenbaum, attorney for Harper & Row said: "Harper & Row will be very glad to make a similar arrangement with Mrs. Kennedy."

Both Mrs. Kennedy and Gardner Cowles, chairman of the board of Cowles Communications, Inc., publishers of Look, issued statements shortly after the agreement was announced. "I hope," said Cowles, "that the controversy between the Kennedy family and Harper & Row will be speedily resolved because Cass Canfield (chairman of the executive committee of Harper & Row) has been extremely helpful in the discussions concerning the serialization."

"The public should not be deprived of the opportunity to read" author William Manchester's manuscript, Cowles added.

Mrs. Kennedy said in her statement that "Look magazine has agreed to remove or modify all those passages in the magazine version of 'The Death of a President' relating to the personal life" of herself and her children.

Rhodesia Now Considered Outside Commonwealth

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Ian Smith said today Rhodesia has in effect been a republic outside the British Commonwealth since the U.N. Security Council voted mandatory economic sanctions against it last weekend.

But Smith told a news conference he does not expect his white minority government to decide whether to declare a republic until after the first of the year and after the question has been referred to the nation's voters.

He indicated most of the four million Africans would be excluded from the referendum.

He said he had given no thought to becoming president if Rhodesia is declared a republic.

Smith said that from the time of the Security Council action, "we were de facto no longer under the control of Britain and no longer a member of the Commonwealth. If that does not mean we are a republic, I do not know what it does mean."

Non-Public Bus Funds Received By Local Schools

Pickaway County Schools received $1,425 in State Foundation funds to cover transportation costs for pupils attending private and parochial schools via public buses.

Logan Elm District received $630 of the funds, Westfall $430 and Teays Valley $345. Circleville City School received $1,335.

The payment covers costs dating back to September. The distribution constitutes a partial payment, according to Archer E. Reilly, state auditor.

Offices To Close For Two Holidays

Mondays following Christmas and New Year's Day have been designated as holidays for federal workers as well as state and county employees.

Included in the list of offices to close will be the Social Security District office, Chillicothe; local Selective Service office; and the State Liquor Store, 108 E. Franklin St., as well as city and county offices.

The post office will be closed and there will be no delivery of mail. However, the post office lobby will be open to box holders and for deposit of mail.

Firemen, Police On 'Sick Leave'

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Operations of the Warren police and fire departments were curtailed for the second consecutive day today as men continued to call in sick.

A fire department spokesman said 15 of the 26 men expected to report today were off. Eleven firemen called in sick Wednesday.

Another 17 policemen reported that they were ill today, a police department spokesman said. Twenty-one did not report Wednesday.

The Police and Firefighters Association, representing both departments, has asked for a $100-a-month raise plus longevity pay. Asked how long the men would remain sick, a fire department spokesman said, "till the fellows get better."

Bake Sale Saturday

The American Legion Auxiliary Junior Girls Drill Team will hold a bake sale Saturday in the Masonic Temple Lobby, 113 S. Court St., starting at 9 a. m.

He contended that by its actions at the United Nations, Britain had lost control over Rhodesia and had shelved her responsibilities for the country.

He said even if Britain now tried to call off the sanctions, that would require the consent of the African and Asian countries and he did not believe they would agree.

Smith said if Rhodesia becomes a republic, certain amendments to the 1965 Constitution will be necessary. The 1965 Constitution is the one he applied after seizing independence from Britain Nov. 11, 1965, rather than submit to eventual rule by the African majority.

FCC Approves Merger of ABC With ITT Co.

Move Means Start For Expansion in Color Television

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Communications Commission approval of the merger of American Broadcasting Co. into International Telephone & Telegraph Co. signals the start of a $140-million expansion campaign for ABC, with heavy emphasis on color telecasting.

The 4-3 approval was voted only 16 hours after the Justice Department said anticompetitive consequences could result from the merger. The department said, however, it would not bring antitrust action.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Donald F. Turner, who signed the Justice Department's findings, said the department would comment on the approval today after studying FCC opinions.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who had criticized the merger plans, said he would ask the Senate Small Business Committee to investigate the merger because of what he called ITT's dependence "upon foreign governments for most of its business."

The approval sent ABC stock on the New York Stock Exchange soaring 4 points to a close of $85.

The FCC decision specifically permits the shift of 17 broadcasting stations from the present ABC to the new ABC which will be formed as a part of ITT.

The merger, announced publicly Dec. 8, 1965, involves a stock transaction of between $350 million and $400 million and creates a concern that ranks 20th among the nation's corporations, with assets exceeding $2 billion.

The $140 million or more capital investment plan was brought out during two days of FCC hearings on the merger. ABC was in position to borrow only $6 million, but ITT was shown to have $170 million in bank credit and cash on hand, said Wednesday's decision.

Sources said the main early emphasis would be on the planned color equipment expansion while ITT familiarizes itself with the ABC operation.

The color expansion is designed to meet competition of the other two principal networks, National Broadcasting Co. and Columbia Broadcasting System.

The majority FCC decision said the merger would enable ABC to better compete with the other networks. It cited ITT's ability to provide financial help.

But apparently the key to FCC approval was ITT's promise that ABC's news department would not be interfered with by ITT or any foreign interest.

Better Blast Detection Is Now Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials report the United States has significantly increased its ability to identify and locate underground nuclear test blasts inside the Soviet Union and is considering setting up a worldwide network of seismographic stations.

Officials, revealing this Wednesday, said the increased U.S. capabilities amount to a breakthrough. Government scientists told Congress during hearings three years ago they had been stymied by the location and identification problems since 1961.

Defense Department officials agreed in interviews that the new U.S. information would have the effect of limiting or preventing large-scale cheating by the Soviets in case an underground test ban treaty is signed. But they disagreed when asked what effect the developments would have on any East-West negotiations.

Some officials indicated that the findings could lead the United States to modify its demand for on-site inspection and renew its negotiations with the Soviets on a test ban treaty.

But disarmament experts argued that despite the improvements in detection, a certain amount of on-site inspection would be necessary to make sure there was no cheating.

This has been the U.S. position since test ban talks got under way, although the United States has reduced from 12 to 7 the number of inspection sites it considered necessary before a treaty could be signed. The Soviets have refused inspections.

Some military men are known to believe that under a treaty the Soviets would be able to test small nuclear-tipped ballistic weapons and missiles and continue to perfect them despite improved U.S. capabilities.

Negotiations to expand the 1963 nuclear test ban treaty, which limits all but underground tests, reportedly are under serious consideration in Moscow, Washington and London.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Skies generally were cloudy over Ohio during the night and a few snow flurries were reported, mostly in the northern cities.

No additional accumulations were reported and the only snow on the ground was in the extreme north.

Shortly before daybreak skies were cloudy north and generally fair in the south. Very light snow was falling at Toledo, Cleveland and Youngstown.

Temperatures ranged from 25 at Zanesville to 34 at Dayton. Columbus and Marietta had 30, Akron 27 and Toledo 42.

Considerable cloudiness was forecast for Ohio through Friday with occasional light snow flurries which would produce no accumulation. Temperatures were to be a little lower in most sections tonight and Friday.

Vietnam . . .

Campbell, former Canadian member of the International Control Commission in Vietnam, said that from 1961 through 1963, 160,000 Vietnamese civilians died in the war. This figure was borne out by officials in Saigon.

"According to conservative estimates, another 55,000 died during 1964 and 100,000 in each of the two escalated years since, or at least 415,000 civilians have been killed since 1961.

"Since the males over 16 are away fighting — on one side or the other — it's clear that in the rural villages which bear the brunt of the napalm raids, at least 70 per cent and probably more of the residents are children.

"In other words, at least a quarter of a million of the children of Vietnam have been killed in the war. If there are that many dead, using the military rule of thumb, there must be three times that many wounded — or at least a million child casualties since 1961."

Campbell, now a magistrate in British Columbia, denied that he had ever made any such estimate and said he had never had occasion to prepare such an estimate, either as a member of the ICC or for articles he has written. He said a similar figure was given in an article written by the World Federalist Organization in Victoria, B.C., several years ago for which he supplied a foreword.

Here in Saigon a U.S. adviser with the Vietnamese health service called these figures "very high."

"We do not have the statistics to disprove such an estimate but observations in the hospitals and streets will show there just aren't that many children who have been wounded," he said.

Rhodesia Now Considered Outside Commonwealth

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (AP) — Prime Minister Ian Smith said today Rhodesia has in effect become a republic outside the British Commonwealth since the U.N. Security Council voted mandatory economic sanctions against it last weekend.

But Smith told a news conference he does not expect his white minority government to decide whether to declare a republic until after the first of the year and after the question has been referred to the nation's voters.

He indicated most of the four million Africans would be excluded from the referendum.

He said he had given no thought to becoming president if Rhodesia is declared a republic.

Smith said that from the time of the Security Council action, "we were de facto no longer under the control of Britain and no longer a member of the Commonwealth. If that does not mean we are a republic, I do not know what it does mean."

Non-Public Bus Funds Received By Local Schools

Pickaway County Schools received $1,425 in State Foundation funds to cover transportation costs for pupils attending private and parochial schools via public buses.

Logan Elm District received $630 of the funds, Westfall $450 and Teays Valley $345. Circleville City School received $1,335.

The payment covers costs dating back to September. The distribution constitutes a partial payment, according to Archer E. Reilly, state auditor.

Offices To Close For Two Holidays

Monday following Christmas and New Year's Day have been designated as holidays for federal workers as well as state and county employees.

Included in the list of offices to close will be the Social Security District office, Chillicothe; local Selective Service office; and the State Liquor Store, 109 E. Franklin St., as well as city and county offices.

The post office will be closed and there will be no delivery of mail. However, the post office lobby will be open to box holders and for deposit of mail.

Firemen, Police On 'Sick Leave'

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Operations of the Warren police and fire departments were curtailed for the second consecutive day today as men continued to call in sick.

A fire department spokesman said 15 of the 26 men expected to report today were off. Eleven firemen called in sick Wednesday.

Another 17 policemen reported that they were ill today, a police department spokesman said. Twenty-one did not report Wednesday.

The Police and Firefighters Association, representing both departments, has asked for a $100-a-month raise plus longevity pay. Asked how long the men would remain sick, a fire department spokesman said, "till the fellows get better."

Better Blast Detection Is Now Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials report the United States has significantly increased its ability to identify and locate underground nuclear test blasts inside the Soviet Union and is considering setting up a worldwide network of seismicographic stations.

Officials, revealing this Wednesday, said the increased U.S. capabilities amount to a breakthrough. Government scientists told Congress during hearings three years ago they had been stymied by the location and identification problems since 1961.

Defense Department officials agreed in interviews that the new U.S. information would have the effect of limiting or preventing large-scale cheating by the Soviets in case an underground test ban treaty is signed.

FCC Approves Merger of ABC With ITT Co.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal Communications Commission approval of the merger of American Broadcasting Co. into International Telephone & Telegraph Co. signals the start of a $140-million expansion campaign for ABC, with heavy emphasis on color telecasting.

The 4-3 approval was voted only 16 hours after the Justice Department said anticompetitive consequences could result from the merger. The department said, however, it would not now bring antitrust action.

Assistant Atty. Gen. Donald F. Turner, who signed the Justice Department's findings, said the department would comment on the approval today after studying FCC opinions.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who had criticized the merger plans, said he would ask the Senate Small Business Committee to investigate the merger because of what he called ITT's dependence "upon foreign governments for most of its business."

The approval sent ABC stock on the New York Stock Exchange soaring 4 points to a close of $85.

The FCC decision specifically permits the shift of 17 broadcasting stations from the present ABC to the new ABC which will be formed as a part of ITT.

The merger, announced publicly Dec. 8, 1965, involves a stock transaction of between $350 million and $400 million and creates a concern that ranks 20th among the nation's corporations, with assets exceeding $2 billion.

The $140 million or more capital investment plan was brought out during two days of FCC hearings on the merger. ABC was in position to borrow only $6 million, but ITT was shown to have $170 million in bank credit and cash on hand, said Wednesday's decision.

Sources said the main early emphasis would be on the planned color equipment expansion while ITT familiarizes itself with the ABC operation.

The color expansion is designed to meet competition of the other two principal networks, National Broadcasting Co. and Columbia Broadcasting System.

The majority FCC decision said the merger would enable ABC to better compete with the other networks. It cited ITT's ability to provide financial help.

But apparently the key to FCC approval was ITT's promise that ABC's news department would not be interfered with by ITT or any foreign interest.

Gas Theft Reported Larry Sheets of Route 2, Orient, told the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department that 50 gallons of gasoline were stolen from farm implements and a truck at the McKinley farm on Route 762 near Orient.

Better Blast Detection Is Now Reported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials report the United States has significantly increased its ability to identify and locate underground nuclear test blasts inside the Soviet Union and is considering setting up a worldwide network of seismicographic stations.

Officials, revealing this Wednesday, said the increased U.S. capabilities amount to a breakthrough. Government scientists told Congress during hearings three years ago they had been stymied by the location and identification problems since 1961.

Defense Department officials agreed in interviews that the new U.S. information would have the effect of limiting or preventing large-scale cheating by the Soviets in case an underground test ban treaty is signed. But they disagreed when asked what effect the developments would have on any East-West negotiations.

Some officials indicated that the findings could lead the United States to modify its demand for on-site inspection and renew its negotiations with the Soviets on a test ban treaty.

But disarmament experts argued that despite the improvements in detection, a certain amount of on-site inspection would be necessary to make sure there was no cheating.

This has been the U.S. position since test ban talks got under way, although the United States has reduced from 12 to 7 the number of inspection sites it considered necessary before a treaty could be signed. The Soviets have refused inspections.

Some military men are known to believe that under a treaty the Soviets would be able to test small nuclear-tipped ballistic weapons and missiles and continue to perfect them despite improved U.S. capabilities.

Negotiations to expand the 1963 nuclear test ban treaty, which limits all but underground tests, reportedly are under serious consideration in Moscow, Washington and London.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

Skies generally were cloudy over Ohio during the night and a few snow flurries were reported, mostly in the northern cities.

No additional accumulations were reported and the only snow on the ground was in the extreme north.

Shortly before daybreak skies were cloudy north and generally fair in the south. Very light snow was falling at Toledo, Cleveland and Youngstown.

Temperatures ranged from 25 at Zanesville to 34 at Dayton. Columbus and Marietta had 30, Akron 27 and Toledo 42.

Considerable cloudiness was forecast for Ohio through Friday with occasional light snow flurries which would produce no accumulation. Temperatures were to be a little lower in most sections tonight and Friday.

Vietnam . . .

(Continued from Page 1) Campbell, former Canadian member of the International Control Commission in Vietnam, said that from 1961 through 1963, 160,000 Vietnamese civilians died in the war. This figure was borne out by officials in Saigon.

"According to conservative estimates, another 55,000 died during 1964 and 100,000 in each of the two escalated years since, or at least 415,000 civilians have been killed since 1961.

"Since the males over 16 are away fighting — on one side or the other — it's clear that in the rural villages which bear the brunt of the napalm raids, at least 70 per cent and probably more of the residents are children.

"In other words, at least a quarter of a million of the children of Vietnam have been killed in the war. If there are that many dead, using the military rule of thumb, there must be three times that many wounded — or at least a million child casualties since 1961."

Campbell, now a magistrate in British Columbia, denied that he had ever made any such estimate and said he had never had occasion to prepare such an estimate, either as a member of the ICC or for articles he has written. He said a similar figure was given in an article written by the World Federalist Organization in Victoria, B.C., several years ago for which he supplied a foreword.

Here in Saigon a U.S. adviser with the Vietnamese health service called these figures "very high."

"We do not have the statistics to disprove such an estimate but observations in the hospitals and streets will show there just aren't that many children who have been wounded," he said.

Church Makes Peace Pleas

End Said To Be 'Empty Victory'

VATICAN CITY, (AP)—Pope Paul VI said tonight in his Christmas message to the world that he hoped for a "miracle of good will" that would move both sides to end the Vietnam war.

"Good will holds the key to peace," he said.

"The difficulty is that the responsible authorities of the two sides must make use of this key at the same time. That they should do so with sincere and concrete actions, should be the wonderful event of this Christmas."

The 69-year-old pontiff said his attention, and the world's were concentrated "on the state of war that still exists in Vietnam, a war that is revealed as typical, tragic and threatening."

He said the Vietnam war was steadily increasing in "surprise tactics, the means of warfare used, and the damage inflicted."

A few hours earlier, in Geneva, the World Council of Churches, which groups more than 200 Protestant, Anglican, Orthodox and Old Catholic churches in more than 80 nations, renewed its plea for peace in Vietnam. An appeal signed by general secretary Eugene Carson Blake, and Franklin Clark Fry, chairman of the Council's Central Committee, said:

"We are impelled to plead once more for an end to the mounting strife which at most could lead to an empty victory. We earnestly hope that, in proposing or acceding to a Christmas and New Year cease-fire, the combatants may be indicating a readiness for some form of negotiation. We cannot pray worthily this Christmas unless at the same time we press all parties to cease their violence now and to seek an early peace."

March to Police Station Is Not a Protest Move

CINCINNATI (AP) — About 150 Negro teen-agers are completing plans for a march on District 4 police station the day before Christmas. They're busily preparing placards.

But they won't be protesting anything.

They're planning a Christmas party—with gifts—for the 83 policemen in the district.

The Christmas march, the idea of Roger Tilford, a junior high school teacher, was to present the other side of Christmas... to put the kids on the giving end instead of the receiving end.

"We want to show the police we appreciate them," Tilford said.

The district is in a heavily populated Negro area of Cincinnati.

Some of the placards the youths are preparing read:

"Merry Christmas to the No. 1 police department in the nation."

"Santa Claus is dependable one day a year—but District 4 is dependable 365 days a year."

Upon reaching the station there will be Christmas carols and presentation of gifts to the policemen. Parents of the youngsters have pooled trading stamps to purchase a coffee maker, a radio and door mats for the station.

Businessmen in the area have joined in with donations. The youths themselves chipped in their allowances.

Tilford said he thought it would be a "good gesture for the police and also bridge the chasm between teen-agers and the police department."

NEW YORK (AP)—It would come, a bright November day when the little boy's friend would cry with delight, "My, it's fruitcake weather."

Together, the little fellow and a distant cousin, a woman old in years but with the heart and mind of a child, slipped under the barbed wire of Callahan's pecan grove, past the "no trespassing" sign to gather the windfalls. Then they counted their money — pennies, dimes, even an occasional dollar — for the candied pineapple, ginger, cherries, raisins, eggs and even the bootleg whiskey for 30 beautiful cakes.

So began Wednesday night's "A Christmas Memory," with Truman Capote, the author and narrator, looking back with love to this brief and warm relationship in his lonely childhood.

The dramatization of the memoir was handled as if seen through the eyes of a little boy.

"My friend," as Capote called the childlike eccentric, and the boy treated their holiday like a precious secret kept from the world — "the other people in the house," they were called.

She called him "Buddy," after another little boy she had known. Together they mailed their cakes to "people who struck our fancy" — President Roosevelt, a missionary couple in Borneo they had met once, a California couple whose car had broken down in front of their farm house.

Then, as Buddy and friend were celebrating with a sip of the left-over fruitcake whiskey, "the other people" — a pair of stern, hard-eyed spinsters — walked in, were furious and made Buddy's friend cry. But not for long — she suddenly thought of pine cones and a distant grove of evergreens.

So they went there and cut a tree, so tall that a boy could not steal the star from the top, and they decorated it with paper cutouts.

On Christmas morning, after opening the usual gifts of the other people — socks, a Sunday shirt, a subscription to a religious magazine — they opened their real presents — kites they had made for each other.

Laughing, they ran into the open fields and flew their new kites in the winter Alabama sky.

Capote, in a personal postscript, noted that it was their last Christmas together. He was shipped off to a military school and her mind became more and more confused and, finally, she slipped away.

It was a touching and sentimental tale beautifully recreated. Geraldine Page was fine as the childlike old woman and so was Donnie Melvin as the little boy. Only one complaint — the musical score too often was loud and intrusive.

The hour was one of the big ones in the season of ABC's "Stage '67" series.

OHIO CASH GRAIN — COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Dept. of Agri. cash grain prices: No 2 red wheat mostly 1.63-1.68, mostly 1.65-1.67; No 2 yellow corn mostly 2.3 lower, 1.23-1.31 per bu, mostly 1.26-1.27; No 2 oats mostly unchanged, 68-80, mostly 70-72; No 1 soybeans mostly 3 lower, 2.73-2.83, mostly 2.76-2.77.

"MOST WANTED" — Quick-tempered Clarence Wilbert McFarland (above), convicted bank robber and federal escapee, is added to the FBI's list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives." McFarland, 33, is 5-feet-6½, weighs 165, has scars on his forehead and right temple. He escaped a detention center in Rockville, Md.

Nobody in Here But Us Clothes

RICHMOND, Ind. (AP) — Police were dispatched recently to a self-service laundry to investigate a report that a man's body had been stuffed into a clothes dryer.

Officers found a man in the machine. He told them he was "looking for some place warm to sleep."

Elderly Like New Rental Help Program

LORAIN, Ohio (AP) — "I think it's a wonderful program," said one of the 13 elderly persons who found out yesterday that the Department of Housing and Urban Development will help pay part of the rent at a retirement center here.

"It will help tremendously," she continued. "I have a nice Social Security, but I have to watch everything I spend. My money goes just so far."

The $819 check for 13 persons is on its way to the Firelands

Retirement Center, modernistic building that cost $900,000 and opened last year.

The money is the nation's first payment under an experimental rent supplement program passed by Congress. Names of those receiving help were withheld by the government.

Mrs. Pearl Trotter, manager of Firelands centers here and in nearby Oberlin, said Firelands officials tried more than a year to get the rent supplement program approved. She said an appropriation also has been approved for the Oberlin center.

"It is the most valid way for the government to deal with the problem of housing for elderly," said Linwood Creel Jr., president of Firelands Retirement Centers Inc., owners of the center.

"It is effective because the subsidy goes directly to individuals rather than to buildings or organizations," Creel added. "And most important, the subsidy goes to persons who really need it."

Under the program, a tenant who qualifies pays 25 per cent of his income for rent, and the Federal Housing Administration pays the landlord an additional amount to bring the figure up to the regular rent.

To qualify, a single person must have income of $2,600 or less and a married couple $3,600 or less.

The Firelands center was intended basically for middle-income persons. Rents range from $80 to $159 or less.

The 76-unit center has 84 residents.

Be Extra Careful

During the long holiday weekend thousands upon thousands of us will be hurrying somewhere for Christmas, and returning to our homes. That is hazardous enough. But in addition there is the prediction of bad weather for much of the nation during the holidays, bringing with it the increased certainty that this happiest season of the year will end in tragedy for many families.

Traffic safety officials have issued their annual appeal to drivers to be especially watchful during these two holidays — Christmas and New Year's. Take a little longer to get there. Don't drive until you are overtired.

Have a happy, festive holiday, but don't drink if you must drive. Have a competent mechanic check your car before you begin a long trip.

Watch the other fellow. He may not be as careful as you are. But keep your own mind on the terribly important business of piloting that heavy, powerful car. Don't let operating it become automatic with you. The task requires constant alertness.

Thousands are killed annually in accidents involving only one automobile that somehow ran off the road. Some of these accidents doubtless are due to mechanical failure of one kind or another, but most result from a moment of carelessness.

Christmas is a season of joy, of thoughtfulness, of generosity. And if more drivers would apply these concepts when they are behind the wheel, the grisly holiday death toll could be materially reduced.

Trading Tactics

What goes on here? Always, in the past, the Democratic Party has seemed to be proof against divisiveness on election day. Southern Bourbons, northern labor leaders, corrupt big city machines and idealistic professorial egg heads have closed ranks time after time to produce national Democratic victories. The Republicans, on the other hand, have specialized in cutting each other up. Dick Nixon and Barry Goldwater have been outstanding victims of this deplorable Republican habit.

But now there seems to be a switch in the making. Real divisiveness is invading the Democratic fold while the Republicans are taking their first faltering steps toward national unity.

The Democratic divisiveness is taking the form of a battle between the generations. Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLMAN, M.D.

For years I have been troubled by itching of the ears. I've tried my fingers, cotton tips, erasers, paper clips and all I've done is to give myself infections. What can be the reasons for this condition and is there any way to control it?

Mr. E.B.T., New York

Dear Mr. T.: There once was a non-medical, old wives' tale that itching of the ears meant there was money in the bank. Even if this were true, people annoyed by this condition would gladly give up their money if it brought relief.

The outer ear canal is covered by a fine layer of skin. Therefore, it is susceptible to all the infections, inflammations and irritations that affect the skin on the rest of the body. The only difference is that you just can't get at it in the ear to scratch or soothe the itching.

The cause may be an allergy, eczema, ear wax, fungus infections, dryness of the canal or irritations with shaving soap. Women may be sensitive to hair shellac, hair dyes, eye make-up and nail polish.

Any treatment must first be directed to finding the cause. If a specific one is not found then simple drugs can be used to try to relieve the itch. Scratching with fingers, clips and other objects can only result in infections which then make the condition worse.

A simple solution of 70 per cent alcohol with 2 per cent salicylic acid is often prescribed and offers relief. Never cortisone preparations can reduce the inflammation and relieve the intense itching.

All drugs should be carefully screened by your doctor before using them. Some over-the-counter medicines may be harsh and irritating. They may bring temporary relief, but they can also "burn" the skin lining of the canal and invite complications.

The bottom of my feet developed hard calluses. I cut them away and peel them away, but they always come back. Are there any new chemicals or drugs that can get rid of them once and for all so that I can have permanent relief from pain while walking?

Mrs. M.C., West Virginia

Dear Mrs. C.: Calluses are nature's protection against long-standing irritations. Poorly fitting shoes, bad arches and poor foot posture are responsible for corns and calluses.

When the calluses are removed there may be temporary relief from pain, but this does not correct the underlying condition. The calluses will, therefore, return within a few weeks or a few months.

Painful calluses themselves make people walk in peculiar fashion to shift the weight off the painful area. This only exaggerates the foot problems and eventually leads to more serious complications.

I hope that you are not one of those people who foolishly try to cut their calluses with razor blades and scissors. This is particularly dangerous in the elderly, who, because of poor circulation, can develop infections of the feet.

A chiropodist or podiatrist can with proper instruments, skillfully and safely do it for you.

There are special pads and "Denver Heels" which can be placed on all shoes to take pressure off the bottom of the foot. These are prescribed by orthopedic doctors who can add other suggestions for total foot comfort.

Speaking of your Health—Separate towels prevent passing eye infections to others.

A PARTY of society folk decided to do a bit of slumming one evening recently and had their Rolls deposit them at the corner of Delancey Street and the Bowery. "I presume," one lady in the party remarked to a newsboy stationed there, "that we are now in the authentic lower East Side."

"Well, one thing I'll tell you, lady," answered the newsboy, "it sure ain't Marlboro Country."

Cassie Stinnett, awaiting a train at the 51st Street subway station, spotted a scrawl on an advertising billboard, written in apparent anger, that read, "My mother made me a great big sissy." Beneath it, smaller and gentler, was "If I get the wool, will she make me one, too?"

Kids no longer chalk up the same old words on walls and subway posters. That's considered very, very old hat these days—and decidedly unsophisticated. Instead, you can find startling, scurrilous like the following:

1. Oswald cannot relate to his environment.
 2. Judge Crater, please phone your office.

Be Extra Careful

During the long holiday weekend thousands upon thousands of us will be hurrying somewhere for Christmas, and returning to our homes.

That is hazardous enough. But in addition there is the prediction of bad weather for much of the nation during the holidays, bringing with it the increased certainty that this happiest season of the year will end in tragedy for many families.

Traffic safety officials have issued their annual appeal to drivers to be especially watchful during these two holidays — Christmas and New Year's. Take a little longer to get there. Don't drive until you are overtired.

Have a happy, festive holiday, but don't drink if you must drive. Have a competent mechanic check your car before you begin a long trip.

Watch the other fellow. He may not be as careful as you are. But keep your own mind on the terribly important business of piloting that heavy, powerful car. Don't let operating it become automatic with you. The task requires constant alertness.

Thousands are killed annually in accidents involving only one automobile that somehow ran off the road. Some of these accidents doubtless are due to mechanical failure of one kind or another, but most result from a moment of carelessness.

Christmas is a season of joy, of thoughtfulness, of generosity. And if more drivers would apply these concepts when they are behind the wheel, the grisly holiday death toll could be materially reduced.

Trading Tactics

What goes on here? Always, in the past, the Democratic Party has seemed to be proof against divisiveness on election day. Southern Bourbons, northern labor leaders, corrupt big city machines and idealistic professorial egg heads have closed ranks time after time to produce national Democratic victories. The Republicans, on the other hand, have specialized in cutting each other up. Dick Nixon and Barry Goldwater have been outstanding victims of this deplorable Republican habit.

But now there seems to be a switch in the making. Real divisiveness is invading the Democratic fold while the Republicans are taking their first faltering steps toward national unity.

The Democratic divisiveness is taking the form of a battle between the generations. For some time now the organization known as the College Young Democrats, which is the 35,000-member "baby" division of the Young Democrats of America, has been "off" Lyndon Johnson because of the Vietnamese War. The executive committee of the college group, which claims to be represented on 700 U. S. campuses, recently adopted a resolution condemning the bombing of North Vietnam and calling for peace with the Viet Cong. When the college group tried to get distribution for their resolution through national party mimeograph channels, the Democratic National Committee stepped in with an order to cease and desist. This is "speaking ill" of Senator Scott for "speaking ill." The important difference between the Democrats and the Republicans is that Democratic divisiveness is causing party bloodshed on high party levels, while the Ray Bliss Republican organization is letting the Ripon Society and the Young Republicans sputter now, the feeling being that the "Eleventh Commandment" will be obeyed once there is a 1968 scent of victory in the air.

The outer ear canal is covered by a fine layer of skin. Therefore, it is susceptible to all the infections, inflammations and irritations that affect the skin on the rest of the body. The only difference is that you just can't get at it in the ear to scratch or soothe the itching.

The cause may be an allergy, eczema, ear wax, fungus infections, dryness of the canal or irritations with shaving soap. Women may be sensitive to hair shellac, hair dyes, eye make-up and nail polish.

Any treatment must first be directed to finding the cause. If a specific one is not found then simple drugs can be used to try to relieve the itch. Scratching with fingers, clips and other objects can only result in infections which then make the condition worse.

A simple solution of 70 per cent alcohol with 2 per cent salicylic acid is often prescribed and offers relief. New cortisone preparations can reduce the inflammation and relieve the intense itching.

All drugs should be carefully screened by your doctor before using them. Some over-the-counter medicines may be harsh and irritating. They may bring temporary relief, but they can also "burn" the skin lining of the canal and invite complications.

The bottom of my feet develop hard calluses. I cut them away and peel them away, but they always come back. Are there any new chemicals or drugs that can get rid of them once and for all so that I can have permanent relief from pain while walking?

Mrs. M.C., West Virginia

Dear Mrs. C.: Calluses are nature's protection against long-standing irritations. Poorly fitting shoes, bad arches and poor foot posture are responsible for corns and calluses.

When the calluses are removed there may be temporary relief from pain, but this does not correct the underlying condition. The calluses will, therefore, return within a few weeks or a few months.

Painful calluses themselves make people walk in peculiar fashion to shift the weight off the painful area. This only exaggerates the foot problems and eventually leads to more serious complications.

I hope that you are not one of those people who foolishly try to cut their calluses with razor blades and scissors. This is particularly dangerous in the elderly, who, because of poor circulation, can develop infections of the feet.

A chiropodist or podiatrist can with proper instruments, skillfully and safely do it for you.

There are special pads and "Denver Heels" which can be placed on all shoes to take pressure off the bottom of the foot. These are prescribed by orthopedic doctors who can add other suggestions for total foot comfort.

Speaking of Your Health—Separate towels prevent passing eye infections to others.

Walt Disney's Philosophy Best Expressed by Himself

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Walt Disney's philosophy as a film producer was summed up in his oft-repeated phrase, "We can lick 'em with product."

Lick who? The major studios with whom he competed for theater dates, the bankers who urged him to stop chasing dreams and run a more businesslike, economical operation. These were the forces, plus other invisible ones, that goaded Disney on to bigger, more ambitious productions.

"Money never meant anything to me," said Walt, and he ran up deficits to prove it. But he believed that if he kept amassing product of as much quality as he could manage, the films would eventually bail him out. And they did.

Such films as "Bambi," "Pinocchio" and "Fantasia" failed to make a profit on their first release. But later they were released as each new wave of youngsters grew to movie-going age, and the result was a bonanza for the Disney organization.

Walt learned early to hold onto his product and allow no outside control. When a distributor spirited away the rights to the first Disney star, Oswald the Rabbit, Walt vowed never to part with the films he created. Thus when he went into television, he could draw from the vast library of Disney product, dating back to the birth of Mickey Mouse.

In one of his last interviews, Walt Disney was expounding on his philosophy of work and life, with particular regard to youth today. In his final years, he devoted a great amount of his time and energy to the California Institute of the Arts, which he hoped would become as prestigious in the field of the arts as Cal Tech is in science. More than anything else, he wanted Cal Arts to be his monument.

Among his comments: "I formed my work patterns early in life. At first I worked on my father's farm, then I delivered newspapers in Kansas City for my father, who was a dealer. At 15 I was a news butcher on trains that ran to Colorado and all over. At 16 I was night watchman in a jelly factory in Chicago.

"Kids are too idle nowadays. Their parents don't think it's good for them to work when they're young, but that's a mistake. They have too much leisure, and they don't know what to do with it. I worked hard as a youngster, but knew how to enjoy myself, too. When I did get some leisure, I used it to the utmost.

"If you keep busy, your work might lead you into paths you might not expect. I've always operated like the princes of Serendip, who went on quests not knowing what they would find. That happens in science; some of our most important discoveries have come from scientists who were searching for something else.

"That is the direction I would like Cal Arts to take. It shouldn't be a school where studies are rigid and narrow. Students should be able to study the whole spectrum of the arts. Perhaps a musician would find out he is more talented in art, and vice versa.

"I've always had a great deal of natural curiosity. Whenever I was curious about something, I'd go to the library and ask for all the books they had on that subject. I'd read about everything, and then I'd ask questions from people who were expert in their field.

"When I started making cartoon films, I asked the older artists how they did things. Some of them didn't want to give me any secrets of the trade, but most of them gave me all the help I needed.

"I do the same thing today. If I'm curious about something, I pick up the phone and call someone who knows about it. I

NEW YORK (AP) — It's Christmas in the supermarket. Food shoppers may select turkey or broilers, rib roast or ham, lamb or veal, geese or a brace of ducklings for Christmas dinner, depending on family traditions.

Turkey prices are likely to be a little higher than they were for Thanksgiving in most areas. Broiler prices have dropped with the big supply of birds.

Rib roast probably will be more expensive than it was last Christmas, but ham should be lower. There is much more pork this winter than there was a year ago, when prices were beginning to soar.

Lamb and veal remain high—there's just not much around.

How much Christmas dinner will cost will depend a great deal on where you live — and how carefully you shop.

Meat prices have remained high on the West Coast while they have been dropping in the Midwest and East.

"There's no rhyme or reason for higher prices," said Bud Kavalec, Western State Meat Packers Association representative in Los Angeles. "We should be lower."

The Department of Agriculture in Chicago reports that live cattle prices on the West Coast have been averaging about $1 for 100 pounds higher than in the Midwest.

Carcass beef prices in Los Angeles have risen 3 cents to 41 1/2 cents a pound in the past seven weeks. Food chains report they have absorbed some of the increase and are running fewer specials.

In Portland, Ore., trade sources said the East made a quicker adjustment to prices that got out of line and that prices in Oregon should be dropping soon.

Nifty Holiday Touch Brightens Your Kitchen

By ELEANOR ROSS

Don't overlook the kitchen when you decorate the house for the holiday season.

There is something so warm, so fragrant, so congenial about the room, that guests invariably gravitate there sooner or later. Apart from this, why shouldn't the chief cook and bottle-washer do her chores in a bright atmosphere as she prepares those holiday treats?

Naturally, since the kitchen is such a utilitarian area of the household, any decorations should be on the practical side. The kitchen, certainly, is not the place for a clutter of bric-a-brac, or for arrangements of greenery that will get in the way of preparing meals.

But there are some ideas that might interest you. How about putting a little aside in the budget for something that is pretty and practical? This might be a set of gay, coordinated towels, curtains, and perhaps a small rug in a holiday design. This not as elaborate as it might sound — not if the curtains are tubbale terrycloth, held by snap-on cafe curtain rings to serve as jaunty window dressing. There are many such sets available at budget prices; some even include matching aprons and pot-holders.

A real double-duty decoration is a set of plastic plates, brightly embellished with appropriate designs such as poinsettias, holly wreaths, Christmas trees and Santa himself. These look mighty festive used as wall plaques that can be fastened with double-sided cellophane tape, then taken down in a jiffy and used to serve party snacks. But it is nice to buy extras and have the wall plaques stay in place until post-New Year's clean-up period. These lightweight, inexpensive, but very decorative plates can be suds-washed just like ordinary china.

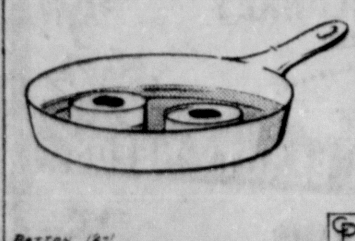

If you use clear glass apothecary jars for your supplies of coffee, flour and sugar, add an extra jar filled with a few glittering tree ornaments and some evergreen sprigs. Tie the jar with a bright ribbon for that extra touch. This adds a pretty note to the kitchen counter or atop the breakfast table without taking up much space.

Make it a merry kitchen during the holiday season and watch the happy reaction of family and friends.

Personals

Mrs. Fred Metzler, 115½ S. Washington St., will spend the holidays with her son, Wayne M. Metzler, and family of Oak Hill.

Wife Preservers

Remove the top and bottom of a tuna fish can, using an opener that leaves a smooth edge, and you'll have an egg-poaching ring, cookie cutter, etc.

At a company dinner, you may want to place a roll and a pat of butter on the bread-and-butter plate at each person's place. If you do this, be sure to have extra rolls and butter at hand for those persons who want another portion.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Hair Today — Gone Tomorrow

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, Nancy, became engaged recently so she and I have been shopping for her wedding gown and veil.

Well, you know how these young girls look nowadays with their little boy Sassoon hair-cuts and that pale-faced make-up with white lipstick! When Nancy tried on those white bridal gowns and veils I didn't know whether to laugh or cry!

Should we try to get her to wear a wig for the wedding? A wedding veil looks ridiculous over a little boy hair-cut. And while you're at it, Abby, please say something to the young girls about how ugly they look in the name of fashion.

NANCY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Nancy must have been doing SOMETHING right or she wouldn't be shopping for a bridal outfit. But for what it's worth, I agree. Girls look much prettier with hair and make-up that suggests a living, breathing person is underneath it all. Forget the wig. Hair today and gone tomorrow.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a 7-year-old boy, and my husband and I would like to adopt a little girl, but one day while I was shopping I took something from a store and was arrested. My husband knows nothing of this, and I just don't have the heart to tell him.

We are hard-working people and would have no trouble getting a child, but I am afraid to put in an application. Would they check for a record? Please put your answer in the paper.

DESPERATE

DEAR DESPERATE: Some do and some don't. And some that do, will not hold it against you. Inquire of the adoption agency or institution in which you are interested. If you don't wish to identify yourself, ask a lawyer to make the inquiry for you.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl with a story to tell. Last night about 9 p.m. I was walking home alone from the public library. (I live 10 blocks from there.) The wind was blowing hard, and it was very cold. Besides, I had a load of books under my arm.

A car pulled up alongside the curb, and a nice looking man opened the door and asked, "Want a ride?" He looked O.K. and was about my father's age, and my feet were about to drop off with freezing so I said yes, and hopped in.

He asked me where I was going and I told him and he drove me there, but before he let me out he said, "Young lady, I want you to promise me that you will NEVER again accept a ride with a stranger, no matter how 'nice' he appears to be. I happen to be a decent man, lucky for you, but you took an awful chance."

"You can't tell ANYTHING about a man by the way he looks. I had a 14-year-old niece who accepted a ride with a strange man, and four days later they found her beaten, lifeless body in a swamp two miles from her home."

I promised that man I would never get into a car with a stranger again. And I never will.

Plastic Holly Looks Real

By ELEANOR ROSS

If it is necessary to keep the house as spotless as possible with a minimum of help and time, it might be a good idea to substitute plastic holly when decking the halls, etc. Also, by using a gracefully modeled array of delicate, colorful plastic berries and branches, your Christmas decorations can be caught in the moment of perfect foliage or flowering — and will stay that way without shedding or withering, which is inevitable with the real thing.

There are handsome plastic poinsettias, pine, holly and mistletoe in single blooms, branches, pots and even professionally arranged bouquets for the non do-it-yourself army. Some of the newest varieties are so realistic that they can be interspersed with the real thing, and the arrangement will defy detection. And, best of all, the plastic variety is suds-and-water washable, so that the effect is always sparkling bright and colorful.

When the big occasion is over and things return to normal, wash and dry each separate branch and blossom and store with your other holiday decorations until next year.

Continuing our decorating survey, we note that angel heads make charming ornaments — and can be whipped up with heavenly ease using suds. Just beat some packaged soap or detergent with a little water, and stir in enough of the product to make a cookie-like dough. Use this to mold a smooth ball for the angel's head, adding suds squirted out of a pastry tube for the hair.

For blonde, brunette, or red hair, add appropriate vegetable coloring. Make a halo from a golden pipe cleaner, leaving a "stem" to insert into the suds. Use tiny Christmas balls or buttons for features, and make a ruff or collar from greens or plastic angel's hair.

These decorations will adhere to the damp suds, and a day's drying will make your angel "immortal" enough to last throughout the holidays.

To caramelize half a cup of sugar, use a 6-cup heavy saucepan and stir the sugar constantly over medium heat.

Sark and the Giant Fighter

By Lucrece Beale

CHAPTER SIXTEEN THE FIGHT

Goko looked at himself in the mirror over the fireplace. He reached up to fasten the ruby necklace around his throat. The fire of the ruby was reflected in the mirror. The giant was be-dazzled.

He dropped his hands. "It is fit for a king," he grunted. "I shall not wear it until day after tomorrow when I marry the Fairy Queen. Then I will be a king and this tone will dazzle all who see me."

"In the meantime I shall wear the ruby as a ring for it fits my finger as well as my neck."

Billy's heart sank. He crouched behind the chair and if the giant did not wear the necklace around his throat as he was supposed to do. Would its magic still work?

Goko slipped the ruby on his finger. Instantly he began to jump up and down and howl with pain. He threw his arms around trying to shake off the ring. He tore at it with his free hand and chewed at it with his teeth. The ring squeezed tight-er.

The giant screamed and kicked savagely at the furniture. His foot struck the chair where Billy was hiding. The chair tumbled away and there was Billy crouched on his heels.

The giant stared in astonish-ment. He forgot the pain in his finger. "Who are you? Where did you come from?" he roared.

Billy got to his feet and pul-lad out his wooden sword. "I am Billy the Giant Fighter," he said. He hoped the giant wouldn't notice the tremor in his voice.

Goko blinked. He thought of his giants who had let the boy slip in. He shouted furiously. "Guards! Guards!"

"No use calling," said Billy. "Your guards have turned into pigs. No one can help you now!"

Then he lunged at the giant with his sword. He struck Goko on the breast but though the aim was true and the blow well struck the giant was unharmed. Against such a mammoth the wooden sword was as useless as the feather of a goose.

When the giant saw this he threw back his head and shout-ed. "You think you can destroy Goko the Great with a toy sword? We shall see!"

He snatched up his club and slammed it down on his finger. The ruby stoned ring burst a-part and his finger was free.

"Now where will your magic get you?" snarled the giant and he struck out at the boy. Billy ducked under the swinging club and fled from the room. He raced through the corridors and climbed the winding stairs. He could hear Goko stamping after him laughing and thump-ing his club.

He came to a door at the top of the topmost stair. Gasping with terror he burst into the room and there he found the Fairy Queen.

"You've come!" she cried. "Oh, you've come at last!"

"Do you think you can destroy Goko with a toy sword?"

Billy threw himself in her arms. "It's no use," he sobbed. "My sword was just a toy and I'm not a giant fighter at all." "Let me have your sword," said the Queen gently.

He gave it to her and she pressed it softly to her lips. "There," she said, giving it back. "It's not a toy anymore."

Tomorrow: A Merry Christ-mas to All.

Lee Radziwill Will Make Theatrical Debut in June

LONDON (AP) — The dark-eyed young woman in the salmon pink above-the-knee dress tossed her head and said with just a little bravado in her low, husky voice:

"I'm taking a terrible risk. But I think I shall make it."

This is the way Lee Radziwill, the former Caroline Lee Bou-vier, sums up her coming debut in show business.

The 33-year-old sister of Jacqueline Kennedy, wife of Prince Stanislas Radziwill and mother of two children, will stride onto the boards of the Ivanhoe Theater in Chicago next June to play the leading role of Tracy Lord in "The Philadelphia Story."

She flies to Chicago from her London home June 9 for re-hearsals and the play opens June 20 for a four-week run.

The role is that of a wealthy young heiress, not exactly for-foreign to her as it wasn't to Kath-erine Hepburn when she made it famous.

Fire Department Bans Paper Dresses

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The fire department has ordered a department store chain to stop selling paper dresses, priced from $2 to $40, because they failed to pass fire-resistance tests.

Certain other paper garments were approved, however, and tests are continuing, the depart-ment said.

Christmas Pilgrimage As Usual in Jerusalem

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP) — Despite tension along the armistice line between Jordan and Israel, Arab officials are preparing to open the barbed wire Sunday and let more than 5,000 Israeli's into the holy city of Jerusalem for Christmas.

These are the Arab Christians of Israel, cut off from their relatives in the Arab world for the past 18 years of Arab-Israeli conflict.

Throughout the year the armistice lines are closed except to diplomats, U.N. officials and some tourists, and no Arab or Israeli can cross through the Mandelbaum Gate, the only au-thorized passage through the no-man's land. As at the Berlin Wall, anyone who tries to cross illegally runs the risk of getting shot.

Since 1950, however, under a U.N. agreement, the red and white striped barrier of Mandelbaum has been raised at Christ-mas to let a selected list of Christian Arabs cross. Each year the number has grown. No matter how high the tension be-tween the two sides, the Christ-mas crossing has taken place every year.

Jordanian officials in the U.N. liaison office said 5,276 applicants would walk across the truce lines Friday morning a record number and stay in Jordan until Christmas night.

Despite the recent crisis in Jordan, with riots and demon-strations sweeping the western part of the country, the Holy Land returned to tranquility as Christmas preparations began. Thousands of visitors were ex-pected to converge from around the world for the sacred rites at Christ's birthplace in Bethle-hem.

NEW GENERATION — Being built in Baltimore, Md., this SV-5D will be launched by the Air Force from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., in 1967. The first of a new generation of spacecraft is to be maneuvered across the Pacific on a re-entry course to a recovery area.

Third Suspect Referred to Jury

John Thomas, Lancaster, has been bound to the next session of the Pickaway County Grand Jury under $15,000 bond by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb.

Thomas entered a plea of inno-cent to a charge of armed robbery. He is accused of being involved in the armed robbery of Gourmet Corner, committed Dec. 12.

Ralph Binkley and Richard Randolph also allegedly involved were bound to the jury earlier by Judge Lamb.

Sheriff Speaks To Local Lions

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff was guest speaker at the Circleville Lions Club meeting held at Wardell's Party Home.

Radcliff gave a history of the local department and described duties and the operations of the Sheriff's office.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP) — It looks new, what's been happen-ing, but then it doesn't because a whiff of the past comes through. But underneath it all there is something really new with a deep difference, Presi-dent Johnson.

Take that tax increase, for instance. Right now Johnson is supposed to be deciding whether to ask Congress for one. Just at this time last year he was trying to decide the same thing. He decided no.

In the past week the Johnson administration began its annual peace attempt, asked U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, to see what he could do about getting peace negotiations on Vietnam started.

The Communist world hooted. Phony, it said. That's what it said last year when Johnson sent peace emissaries around the world. Nothing came of it then, nothing is expected to come of it now.

Then there's the problem which irritates Johnson vastly: the "credibility gap." Just about this time last year Arthur J. Goldberg, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, made a confession: "We have a great problem here maintaining our credibility."

He meant with foreigners and with Americans at home.

These widespread doubts, he explained, deal with whether the United States can be trusted to tell the truth about one or another private peace feeler with whether its leaders "really are pursuing what has been said is a path of peace."

The story behind this was a rumor about a peace feeler from the North Vietnamese Communists. It got all complex and mixed up.

Last week American credibil-ity got involved again when Red China charged that U.S. planes bombed residential areas in Ha-noi, the capital of North Viet-nam. Government officials here denied it, saying military tar-gets had been bombed.

This came just as the credibil-ity got involved again when Red China charged that U.S. planes bombed residential areas in Ha-noi, the capital of North Viet-nam. Government officials here denied it, saying military tar-gets had been bombed.

This came just as the credibil-ity of the Johnson administra-tion in general was being as-sailed.

But even a thing like the President's operation and recu-peration isn't new. On Oct. 8, 1965 he had his gall bladder and a kidney stone removed, then went to his Texas ranch to recu-perate. There he prepared his budget and messages for the Congress returning in 1966.

This year, on Nov. 16, he had some minor surgery, went to his Texas ranch to recuperate, and there has been working on his programs for the Congress com-ing back in 1967.

Up to this point everything looks like the same old thing all over again. But not quite.

When Johnson went to the hospital in October 1965, he had behind him the most miraculous performance in peacetime legisla-tion that any Congress in his-tory had ever achieved. It was a stunning job.

It was more than that. It was tremendous testimony to John-son's extraordinary leadership in dealing with Congress.

But he had no such luck in 1966 and may never have again. The road was down this year, in influence and in politics. He failed to do his full share in the political campaigns and the Re-publicans made gains in the elections.

For a man as outgoing, back-slapping and talkative as John-son, his conduct took a strange turn: He has talked practically not at all since the elections, he has stayed cooped up in his ranch, he has remained silent as criticism piled up on him.

Johnson in these past few months has become a kind of huge puzzle with no one ventur-ing a prediction of what he will do or even what he will be like in the coming year.

Sar... and the Giant Fighter

By Lucrece Beale

CHAPTER SIXTEEN THE FIGHT

Goko looked at himself in the mirror over the fireplace. He reached up to fasten the ruby necklace around his throat. The fire of the ruby was reflected in the mirror. The giant was bedazzled.

He dropped his hands. "It is fit for a king," he grunted. "I shall not wear it until day after tomorrow when I marry the Fairy Queen. Then I will be a king and this tone will dazzle all who see me."

"In the meantime I shall wear the ruby as a ring for it fits my finger as well as my neck."

Billy's heart sank. He crouched behind the chair and if the giant did not wear the necklace around his throat as he was supposed to do. Would its magic still work?

Goko slipped the ruby on his finger. Instantly he began to jump up and down and howl with pain. He threw his arms around trying to shake off the ring. He tore at it with his free hand and chewed at it with his teeth. The ring squeezed tighter.

The giant screamed and kicked savagely at the furniture. His boot struck the chair where Billy was hiding. The chair tumbled away and there was Billy crouched on his heels. The giant stared in astonishment. He forgot the pain in his finger. "Who are you? Where did you come from?" he roared.

Billy got to his feet and pulled out his wooden sword. "I am Billy the Giant Fighter," he said. He hoped the giant wouldn't notice the tremor in his voice.

Goko blinked. He thought of his giants who had let the boy slip in. He shouted furiously. "Guards! Guards!"

"No use calling," said Billy. "Your guards have turned into pigs. No one can help you now!"

Then he lunged at the giant with his sword. He struck Goko on the breast but though the aim was true and the blow well struck the giant was unharmed. Against such a mammoth the wooden sword was as useless as the feather of a goose.

When the giant saw this he threw back his head and shouted. "You think you can destroy Goko the Great with a toy sword. We shall see!"

He snatched up his club and slammed it down on his finger. The ruby stoned ring burst apart and his finger was free.

"Now where will your magic get you?" snarled the giant and he struck out at the boy. Billy ducked under the swinging club and fled from the room. He raced through the corridors and climbed the winding stairs. He could hear Goko stamping after him laughing and thumping his club.

He came to a door at the top of the topmost stair. Gasping with terror he burst into the room and there he found the Fairy Queen.

"You've come!" she cried. "Oh, you've come at last!"

"Do you think you can destroy Goko with a toy sword?"

Billy threw himself in her arms. "It's no use," he sobbed. "My sword was just a toy and I'm not a giant fighter at all." "Let me have your sword," said the Queen gently.

He gave it to her and she pressed it softly to her lips. "There," she said, giving it back. "It's not a toy anymore." Tomorrow: A Merry Christmas to All.

Lee Radziwill Will Make Theatrical Debut in June

LONDON (AP) — The dark-eyed young woman in the salmon pink above-the-knee dress tossed her head and said with just a little bravado in her low, husky voice:

"I'm taking a terrible risk. But I think I shall make it."

This is the way Lee Radziwill, the former Caroline Lee Bouvier, sums up her coming debut in show business.

The 23-year-old sister of Jacqueline Kennedy, wife of Prince Stanislas Radziwill and mother of two children, will stride onto the boards of the Ivanhoe Theater in Chicago next June to play the leading role of Tracy Lord in "The Philadelphia Story."

She flies to Chicago from her London home June 9 for rehearsals and the play opens June 20 for a four-week run.

The role is that of a wealthy young heiress, not exactly foreign to her as it wasn't to Katherine Hepburn when she made it famous.

FHA Group Plans To Adopt Child

By BECKY NEFF
The Westfall Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America is going to "adopt" a Korean child and we need your help. The information which students have received shows that these children are under-nourished and lacking in love. With your help, we would like to give one of these children all that we can possibly offer.

We are all out in the effort to make this project a good one. If you would like more information or would like to make a donation, please contact Carlotta Peterson or Becky Neff.

Biologists Busy at WF

By LAURA WRITSEL

If you have ever entered room 105 at Westfall High School this year, you have undoubtedly noticed some of the work of Paul Hoskin's biology classes.

At the moment, on the bulletin board, there are colorful and labeled lab sheets of the earthworm. Students have several of these papers (which have helped them with their assignments) on different things such as seed, fruit, protozoa, trees, flowers, sponges, hydra, etc.

In lab work they have used the microscopes to get a better look at algae, molds, fungi, tomatoes, and parts of a frog.

So far they have dissected some flowers and labeled the parts. These are all on display in the room. The students just finished dissecting their first earthworm, which was quite an accomplishment for most of the girls. Although the creatures were rather old and malodorous, they are glad to report that no one had to leave the room. Students are now wondering how well they will survive through the next operation, a grasshopper. After that one, they'll struggle with probably the most well-known of all victims, the frog.

The most recent project was the animal and leaf collections and insects. Most of them were very nice, and there were some large collections, too. The largest number of insects was over 100, and the top number of leaves was about 99. All future Westfall High School biology students should get started on these as soon as possible. Last minute collectors are lucky to find anything.

The next big event is the Science Fair, for which we were all required to make a project.

As the weary slaves left for home, many threats were heard by shocked masters. Whether the girls "got even" when Logan Elm holds its "boys' slave sale" remains to be seen. Perhaps the blood-thirsty girls will have a chance for revenge. However the senior class slave sale netted approximately $37 for the class treasury.

Westfall Cheerleaders Recognized

Very little has been written this year concerning the work that the cheerleaders of Westfall High School have done.

Many of the students feel that the cheerleaders deserve to be recognized for a splendid job of organizing pep sessions, for experimenting with inter-com skits, and for keeping up their cheerleading under various circumstances.

Westfall varsity cheerleaders should really be commended for this past football season. Much has been said about this year being a buildup season for the years to come.

It really took a lot of determination and sheer effort for the girls to continue pulling the morale of the spectators up to a higher pitch, so that every one of us could walk away from these games with our heads held high, proud to still be a part of Westfall.

How many of you have ever given a thought to what makes a good cheerleader? Each girl on the squad represents the Westfall student body at all games. She must be of sound mental and physical health, she must discipline herself to follow a good beautiful regime, she must have and maintain a good, clean mental attitude toward education, her home, the community she represents, she must be able to accept criticism and find ways of improving herself. She must be aggressive enough to project her ideas and yet be able to accept others suggestions, she must have high moral standards, in addition to specific skills necessary to perform well. The purpose for cheerleaders is to lead the spectators in cheers and chants which in turn should build up the morale and spirit of the team members and coaches — to at least let them know that we are backing them all the way, whether it be a victory or defeat.

Good sportsmanship is as hard to build up as a winning team. All of the skits used this year have been created by the cheerleaders themselves. When they attended the cheerleading clinic at least one of their original chants was used at the clinic.

Varsity cheerleaders are responsible for planning the pep sessions, with the reserve and freshman squads included in the plan. Each pep session is planned cooperatively, then practiced in addition to practice on the regular cheers used. All practices and planning take place two nights a week for approximately 3 1/2 hours. Each girl is responsible for making signs at home to use for inspiring teams and spectators to possible victories.

Holiday Program Scheduled at LE

By RICHARD CREE

On Friday between 1:15 and 2 p. m. the student body at Logan Elm will participate in a Christmas program which it is hoped will become an annual event.

The planning committee is Nadine Hinton, Nancy Wolford, Debbie Ankrom, Pat Dawley, Danny Dahl, Pam Leist, Cindy Valentine, Sandy Dowden, Scott Wilson, Paul Murray, Alan Gabriel, Larry Dumm, Greg Fraunfelder, and Brenda Mills.

Advisers to the committee are Robert Petty, Mrs. Virginia Courtright and Mrs. Dorothy Sampson.

Westfall Club News

VARSITY "W"

The Varsity "W" Club is just now getting organized and the members are trying to raise money to help the future athletes at Westfall High. The idea behind the club, is to make gentlemen and students out of boys. The club wants to raise the standards of these boys so the younger grade students and the students in our High School will look up to the athletes.

The club wants its members to be students as well as athletes. Advisers and the principal have set certain standards which athletes must meet before they may participate in that sport he is in.

We are trying to promote sports. Too many people are spectators. The Varsity "W" Club is urging any boy who can walk, to try out for some sport other than enrolling in physical education. Westfall needs a name and sports is the quickest way to get one. Are you going to contribute to its name other than to be a spectator??

ART CLUB

The Art Club now has a constitution under which it will be operating. In the constitution it states that every year the club will either have an Art Contest or a Creative Arts Festival in which school-wide competition will be encouraged.

For their Christmas project,

the Art Club members will decorate windows and other parts of the school. Watch for the festive decorations.

Keep in mind the Creative Arts Festival, which will be held sometime in February. We urge all students to participate.

SCIENCE CLUB

At the last meeting Lynda Writsel, Jeanne Shannon and Suzanne Steinhauser presented a demonstration on the preparation and properties of hydrogen. This is just an example of some of the activities that the Science Club is planning.

The members of the club are urged to be meditating on their science projects. After all the Science Fair is just a few weeks away!

The Science Fair is open to the entire school. If interested, please contact Mr. Wright or Mr. Hoskins for further information.

FTA

The Westfall FTA held its third meeting on Dec. 8. It was announced by president, Linda Allen that members have received their charter from the National Education Association. We are now entitled to many special privileges of the National FTA. Members are now in the process of planning a county-wide FTA day and a program for an assembly and a movie for one of the future meetings.

ANNUAL STAFF

The Yearling Staff has been busy lately. Mr. Pat McKenrick, a well-known photographer from Cincinnati, came to Westfall and took some very outstanding pictures of the students, faculty, and scenes around Westfall. We hope to use several of these pictures in the 1967 Yearling and know that the students will also enjoy these pictures.

The staff held its annual Christmas party at Miss Strous' home on Dec. 11. It was a carry-in supper with a gift exchange afterwards.

The Yearling Staff has worked very hard and will continue DO SO. They hope to make the 1967 Yearling the best ever and a credit to Westfall High School.

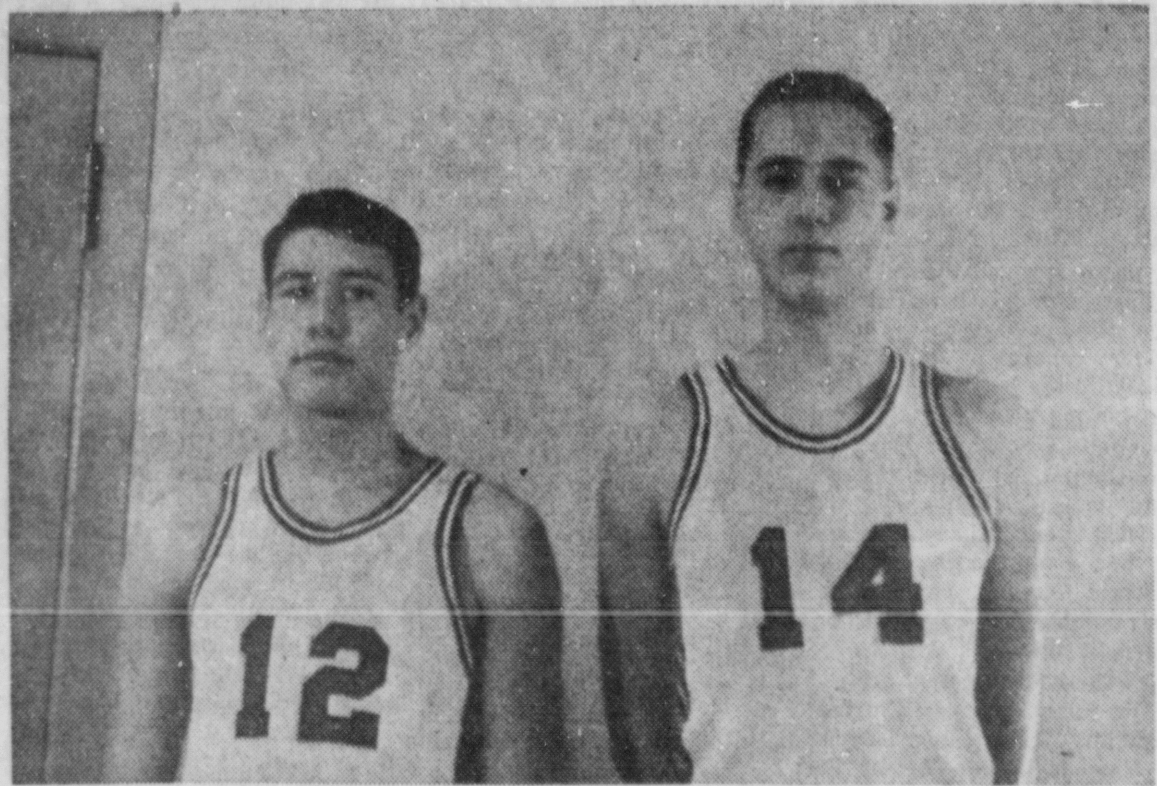

In January, the 1967 Yearling will be on sale for $3.25. Orders can be placed with Donna Straley, Doug Steck, Diane Cook, or Ronnie Justus.

DECORATIONS — Logan Elm High School is really getting into the spirit of Christmas with the addition of Holiday decorations arranged by the Student Council. For the outside of the building, the traditional Christmas card which has greeted visitors at the front door every year of the school's existence, was put in its usual place along with the star on the front gymnasium wall. A tree was placed in the center of the cafeteria and the front hall has a large wreath and a green felt tree on the wall. Wreaths, candles and other appropriate decorations appear in all of the class rooms.

Logan Elm — Teays Valley — Westfall

MEET THE BRAVES — Two seniors who plan to lead the Logan Elm Braves to victory in this year's basketball season are Tom Smith, left and Russ Merrin. Merrin is playing center in his third year with the varsity. Smith is a guard in his second year on the varsity. The LE center resides with his mother, Mrs. Charlotte Merrin at Route 4. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Smith of Route 1, Kingston. This is the first of a series on "Meet the Braves."

For their Christmas project,

Logan Elm Students of The Month

By LORNA POLING

The Logan Elm High School December students of the month were selected this week.

Named were Barbara McCain and Tim Huffman, both seniors.

Barbara McCain's wit and school spirit make her a popular LE student. She is active in the pep, stage, marching and concert bands. She is a member of the pep club and girls' ensemble. Barbara attends the Church of Christ in Christian Union. She plans to major in music at Capital University Miss McCain is looking forward to a trip to New York City for Christmas.

She enjoys reading, singing and being with her friends. Her dislikes are tests on Monday, two-faced people and those who don't work for what they get. Her likes include the Christmas season, beautiful music and Fridays.

Tim Huffman was a football team captain. A speedy half-back, he was chosen the team's most valuable player. He is active in stage band and concert band and chorus. He would like to have some sweaters for Christmas. His hobbies are ice skating, fishing, hunting, music and swimming.

Ris likes include football, good food, mechanical drawing, motorcycle riding and one particular girl. Among his dislikes is getting up in the morning to come to school. After graduation he hopes to continue his education to become an accountant, though he may preface this by a term of military service.

Scott Wilson was chairman of the Student Council committee making the Student of the Month selections. Medals were presented to both students.

the Art Club members will decorate windows and other parts of the school. Watch for the festive decorations.

Keep in mind the Creative Arts Festival, which will be held sometime in February. We urge all students to participate.

Biologists Busy at WF

By LAURA WRITSEL

If you have ever entered room 105 at Westfall High School this year, you have undoubtedly noticed some of the work of Paul Hoskin's biology classes.

At the moment, on the bulletin board, there are colorful and labeled lab sheets of the earthworm. Students have several of these papers (which have helped them with their assignments) on different things such as seed, fruit, protozoa, trees, flowers, sponges, hydra, etc.

In lab work they have used the microscopes to get a better look at algae, molds, fungi, tomatoes, and parts of a frog.

So far they have dissected some flowers and labeled the parts. These are all on display in the room. The students just finished dissecting their first earthworm, which was quite an accomplishment for most of the girls. Although the creatures were rather old and malodorous, they are glad to report that no one had to leave the room. Students are now wondering how well they will survive through the next operation, a grasshopper. After that one, they'll struggle with probably the most well-known of all victims, the frog.

The most recent project was the animal and leaf collections and insects. Most of them were very nice, and there were some large collections, too. The largest number of insects was over 100, and the top number of leaves was about 99. All future Westfall High School biology students should get started on these as soon as possible. Last minute collectors are lucky to find anything.

The next big event is the Science Fair, for which we were all required to make a project.

'Slaves' Sold At Logan Elm

FHA Group Plans To Adopt Child

By BECKY NEFF

The Westfall Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America is going to "adopt" a Korean child and we need your help.

The information which students have received shows that these children are under-nourished and lacking in love. With your help, we would like to give one of these children all that we can possibly offer.

We are all out in the effort to make this project a good one. If you would like more information or would like to make a donation, please contact Carlotta Peterson or Becky Neff.

Springfield Hockey Club
Expected To End Walkout

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — The defiant Springfield Indians appeared ready to accept advice of counsel and end a rebellion today against Eddie Shore, hard-nosed owner of the American Hockey League club.

The Indians, who walked out in protest of player suspensions Monday, returned to the ice for a one-hour unsupervised practice Wednesday as Shore tried to obtain other players for a game with Providence Friday night.

The squad worked out after representatives conferred by telephone with Alan Eagleson, a Toronto attorney who represents many hockey stars as individuals. Eagleson later flew to Springfield.

"I advised the players that they must practice and play Friday night's game, and otherwise honor their contracts," Eagleson said.

Eagleson said he hoped to meet with Shore. However, the fiery club owner, still as tough talking as he was during days as a hard-hitting National Hockey League defenseman, gave no assurance he would see the lawyer.

The Indians have demanded that Shore reinstate four suspended players.

Campbell Leads With 38 Points

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kenny Campbell probably will remember the night of Dec. 21, 1966 all his life.

Starting for the first time in his college career, Campbell threw in 38 points to lead the 10th-ranked Vanderbilt Commodores to a 116-92 basketball victory over Northwestern.

A 6-footer from Oak Ridge, Tenn., the 21-year-old Campbell hit on 17 of 26 field goal attempts to tie a Vandy record in the game at Nashville.

Campbell's feat made him the Wednesday college basketball player of the night. His performance overshadowed the return to action tonight of the UCLA Bruins, top-ranked in The Associated Press poll, and Lew Alcindor, their prize 7-foot-1 sophomore.

UCLA and Alcindor play host to the Colorado State University Rams in the Bruins' first game since routing Duke nearly two weeks ago.

Louisville, No. 2 in the AP poll, No. 5 Michigan State and No. 6 New Mexico also chalked up victories on a night replete with intersectional contests.

Playing at home, Louisville defeated St. Louis 75-68. On the road, Michigan State bounced back from its Tuesday setback by New Orleans Loyola, to whip Tulane 76-66 and the New Mexico Lobos beat Creighton at Omaha 79-68.

Illinois smothered Stanford 81-67, Toledo routed Duquesne 89-58, Oklahoma City downed Baylor 103-89, Purdue took Army in overtime 79-69, Iowa humbled California 72-62, Drake upset Colorado 77-72 and Tulsa overcame Utah State 67-52. All were home court triumphs.

Iowa State exploded for 62 points in the second half to whip Texas 101-87 for the championship of the Sun Devil Classic at Tempe, Ariz., Boston College beat Massachusetts 75-67 in the final of the Boston Garden Invitational and Akron won the Rubber City Classic in its home town by downing Bucknell 87-60.

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton captains the Minnesota Vikings when they are on offense and end Jim Marshall takes charge on defense.

Miller Remains Unbeaten

CHS Wrestlers
Top Chillicothe
In 25-16 Meet

Circleville High School's wrestlers picked up their third dual meet win of the season against two losses Wednesday, defeating visiting Chillicothe, 25-16.

In addition to the three dual meet victories, the Tiger matmen also won the quadrangular tournament held here Saturday.

Next action for the grapplers comes Jan. 7 in the eight team Groveport tourney.

Ronnie Miller, with a 5-0 decision over his opponent, boosted his record to the season to six wins and one draw.

MILLER, a senior, is the only undefeated wrestler on the Circleville High School team. He competes in the 145-pound class.

Randy Martin opened the meet with a 4-0 win in the 103-pound class for the Tigers. The visiting Cavaliers gained a two point edge when Mike Smith was pinned in the 112-pound class. Then Steve Nelson earned a 6-2 decision, but Chamberlain was pinned.

Dean Martin won a 13-5 match Bruce Pontious lost, 10-0. Miller picked up his win and Mark Ralston lost, 10-0.

At that point, Circleville was trailing, 16-12.

Jim Campbell put the Tigers ahead by pinning his opponent. Campbell was leading, 13-2, when he gained the pin.

Bob Dean solidified the margin by decisioning his foe and Fletcher put the icing on the cake with a pin in the heavyweight class.

Fletcher weighed in for yesterday's match at 194 pounds. His opponent, Peoples, tipped the scales at 280 pounds.

Here are complete results:

103-Pound — Martin (C) decisioned Park (Ch), 4-0.

112-Pound — Bridges (Ch) pinned Smith (Cir).

120-Pound — Nelson (Cir) decisioned Shupe (Ch), 6-2.

Guard Loop

Ashville IGA and the Ohio National Guard quintet continued their winning ways in Wednesday's ONG Independent Basketball League action.

Ashville defeated Darby, 83-78, while the National Guard stopped Circleville Oil, 88-85.

The wins set the stage for a clash between the two league leaders, both have won four games, on Dec. 28 in the Armory on East Franklin St.

In other action last night, Smith - Douglas defeated Local 776 by a score of 75-54.

Bob Hoover went on a 30-point scoring spree in the IGA victory and got double figure support from Chuck Miller with 13 and Dick Hoover with 11. For the losing Darby aggregate 0-4 in the league, Dave Muselman scored 22.

PACING the national guard to their fourth win in as many starts was Tucker who canned 10 field goals and a dozen foul shots for 32 markers. Sells had 26 for the Oilers, who now have a 2-2 record.

Woffler's 32 points led the Smith - Douglass unit in their romp over the 76ers: The winless union team was led by Bush who scored 20.

In action slated Dec. 28, Ashville meets the ONG team at 7 p. m. Darby and Local 776 will clash at 8:15 p. m. and a game between Circleville Oil and Smith - Douglass is on tap at 9:30 p. m.

Joe Namath Will Undergo Second Operation on Knee

NEW YORK (AP) — "I want to have it done," Joe Namath said.

Next week, the New York Jets' $400,000 quarterback will get his wish — his right knee will be operated on for the second time and Namath will lose a lateral cartilage that was torn in August during an exhibition game.

"I don't have any doubts the operation will be a success," Namath said from his mother's home in Beaver Falls, Pa., where he is spending the holidays. "It couldn't come out any worse and we're hoping the operation will make it better."

Namath's first operation was in January, 1965, for the removal of cartilage on the inside of the knee. The forthcoming operation is for outside cartilage.

Actually, the operation could be even more extensive. A team of three doctors will decide when Namath enters Lenox Hill Hospital whether to attempt more serious ligament surgery to give the knee more stability.

Originally, Jets' owner Sonny Werblin and Coach Weeb Ewbank were against the operation, though it was obvious Namath was not in top shape. But, on Monday, a routine examination of Namath's knee revealed the torn cartilage.

"It bothers me all the time," Namath said. "It's not a constant pain, but the knee is stiff when I stand up and walk, and it takes a few steps before it loosens up."

Namath said he expects to spend about two weeks in the hospital, from four to six weeks in a cast and then four or five months recuperating and exercising the knee.

Namath performed well during the season just completed — connecting on 232 of 471 passes for 3,379 yards and 19 touchdowns. But he was hampered by lack of mobility, the inability to escape when opposing linemen broke through the Jets' pass protection. He had 27 passes intercepted.

Super Bowl Ducats Vanishing Rapidly

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Super Bowl — championship of the two professional football leagues — has received 21,000 orders for tickets in two days.

The first contest matching the winners of the National and American football leagues will be played Jan. 15 in the 92,000-seat Memorial Coliseum.

A spokesman said the ticket demand was the heaviest in Coliseum history for a short period of time.

Teays Frosh
Win Fourth

The Teays Valley freshmen basketball team, boosted by a 16 point scoring effort on the part of Rex Gregg, rolled over host school Logan Elm, 52-28.

The Viking Frosh have now won four consecutive games this season.

Friday they play at 6:30 p. m. when Bishop Wherle invades the Viking court. A reserve game is scheduled to get under way at 8 p. m.

Santa Anita Has Troubles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An official at Santa Anita race track says: "I doubt if we'll be racing this season."

And no negotiations between management and the Building Service Employees union are scheduled today in the contract dispute.

In any case, a Santa Anita spokesman said, the scheduled Dec. 26 opening of the Arcadia, Calif., track and Bay Meadows in San Mateo, Calif., will be delayed. "It's impossible to open Monday," he said.

Negotiators reached an impasse when the union rejected what the tracks called their final offer, and management turned down a counter proposal.

Management's three-year contract offer included daily wage increases of $1, $1, and 75 cents, plus additional health and welfare benefits totaling $5.

Springfield Hockey Club
Expected To End Walkout

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — The defiant Springfield Indians appeared ready to accept advice of counsel and end a rebellion today against Eddie Shore, hard-nosed owner of the American Hockey League club.

The Indians, who walked out in protest of player suspensions Monday, returned to the ice for a one-hour unsupervised practice Wednesday as Shore tried to obtain other players for a game with Providence Friday night.

The squad worked out after representatives conferred by telephone with Alan Eagleson, a Toronto attorney who represents many hockey stars as individuals. Eagleson later flew to Springfield.

"I advised the players that they must practice and play Friday night's game, and otherwise honor their contracts," Eagleson said.

Eagleson said he hoped to meet with Shore. However, the fiery club owner, still as tough talking as he was during days as a hard-hitting National Hockey League defenseman, gave no assurance he would see the lawyer.

The Indians have demanded that Shore reinstate four suspended players.

Campbell Leads
With 38 Points

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Kenny Campbell probably will remember the night of Dec. 21, 1966 all his life.

Starting for the first time in his college career, Campbell threw in 38 points to lead the 10th-ranked Vanderbilt Commodores to a 116-92 basketball victory over Northwestern.

A 6-footer from Oak Ridge, Tenn., the 21-year-old Campbell hit on 17 of 26 field goal attempts to tie a Vandy record in the game at Nashville.

Campbell's feat made him the Wednesday college basketball player of the night. His performance overshadowed the return to action tonight of the UCLA Bruins, top-ranked in The Associated Press poll, and Lew Alcindor, their prize 7-foot-1 sophomore.

UCLA and Alcindor play host to the Colorado State University Rams in the Bruins' first game since routing Duke nearly two weeks ago.

Louisville, No. 2 in the AP poll, No. 5 Michigan State and No. 6 New Mexico also chalked up victories on a night replete with intersectional contests.

Playing at home, Louisville defeated St. Louis 75-68. On the road, Michigan State bounced back from its Tuesday setback by New Orleans Loyola, to whip Tulane 76-66 and the New Mexico Lobos beat Creighton at Omaha 79-68.

Illinois smothered Stanford 81-67, Toledo routed Duquesne 89-58, Oklahoma City downed Baylor 103-89, Purdue took Army in overtime 79-69, Iowa humbled California 72-62, Drake upset Colorado 77-72 and Tulsa overcame Utah State 67-52. All were home court triumphs.

Iowa State exploded for 62 points in the second half to whip Texas 101-87 for the championship of the Sun Devil Classic at Tempe, Ariz., Boston College beat Massachusetts 75-67 in the final of the Boston Garden Invitational and Akron won the Rubber City Classic in its home town by downing Bucknell 87-60.

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton captains the Minnesota Vikings when they are on offense and end Jim Marshall takes charge on defense.

OSU Eyes Hike in Grid Tickets

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University may have to raise football ticket prices to keep its $3 million athletic program financially sound, even though its gridiron crowds are the nation's largest.

The Buckeye athletic department is being squeezed by rising prices without an increase in income.

"We can't do much better on attendance, so how are you going to get more revenue without raising prices," asked E.E.

Bernard, the athletic department's business manager who keeps the books on a program that handles almost $3 million each year and supports 14 varsity sports.

Final decisions on any changes is up to the board of trustees.

Football, which this season drew an average of 81,000 fans a game, is the big income producer. Tickets to home games alone brought in $1.6 million this year. Ohio State kept about $1 million, paid the rest to visiting teams.

Football income exceeded the total budget for all sports of $1.5 million. But the athletic department budget includes another $877,000 for administrative expenses including about $275,000 in grants to athletes plus $265,000 to operate a university golf course and miscellaneous expenses such as $69,500 on bonds which financed construction of a basketball arena.

The total athletic income this year was budgeted at $2.9 million. Expenditures were budgeted at $2.8 million, but a drop in revenue from the Buckeyes' three road football games means the budget will just about balance this year.

The projection for the next two years would be for a deficit without additional income, Bernard said.

Football is the most expensive sport to support, but the athletic program includes intercollegiate competition in ice hockey, lacrosse and gymnastics, as well as more popular sports, and also supports volleyball and pistol shooting teams.

The football budget this year was $213,400. But that did not count salaries of coaches — another $196,000 — or medical bills, student fees for players and many other expenses.

Football has $132,000 a year for grants.

Under consideration is a proposal to raise general public tickets from $5 to $6 a game, to bring in another $123,000 with six home games and to boost faculty season tickets from $14 to $18 and student tickets from $12 to $14, which would produce about $90,000 a year.

Rockets Rip Duquesne '5'

Toledoans Shoot 56 Pct. from Field

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toledo is on top in the Mid-American Conference basketball race by virtue of winning one of just two December games on the conference schedule. But that virtually meaningless lead is looking bigger and bigger.

The young Rockets are beating everybody. They remained undefeated Wednesday night as Duquesne became victim No. 6 by an 89-58 score.

Sophomores Steve Mix and John Brisker, with 24 and 20 points respectively, led Toledo against the Dukes. As a team, the Rockets shot 56 per cent from the field.

When MAC play resumes Jan. 4, the Rockets get the chance to convince any remaining sceptics. They face preseason conference favorite Bowling Green on the Falcons' court. Toledo's 1-0 MAC record to date is from a 103-91 decision over Marshall last Saturday.

Another MAC team, Kent State, continued to look like the favorite for the cellar Wednesday night, losing its fourth game in five outings.

The Bonnies won it with Ed Ahearn's three-point play near the end.

In Ohio-based holiday tournaments, Akron proved a horrid host by swamping Bucknell 87-60 in the finals of the Rubber City Classic and Grove City Steubenville moved into the finals of the Quaker City Tournament at New Philadelphia. Cleveland State scored an 85-83 overtime win over Indiana State (Pa.) in the loser's Christmas Tree Tournament.

Tall Bill Turner scored 21 points for Akron in the Zips' latest runaway. The point difference was as high as 33 points late in the game.

Larry Osborne led Steubenville on a second half comeback that brought a 67-63 overtime over Defiance. He also led the scoring with 17 points.

Cleveland moved into tonight's finals in the Indiana, Pa., tourney when Ed Williams made a lay-up just before the end of the overtime battle with Indiana State. The Ohioans meet Cheyney State (Pa.) in the finals.

"These paragraphs," Mrs. Kennedy's statement continued, "were the sole reasons for the initiation of her legal action. Since every passage of a personal nature under contention for several months was either deleted by Look, or changed to her satisfaction, Mrs. Kennedy has withdrawn her suit."

The Cowles' statement said that members of the family also were upset about the references to Johnson in the book, and that they felt Manchester had treated the President unfairly.

Mrs. Kennedy said in her statement that "no material of historical significance has been altered nor has the historical record been impaired in the slightest by the modifications and deletions."

She said that neither she nor Robert Kennedy "has in any way approved or endorsed the material in the Look articles." "The author, William Manchester, and the publisher of Look magazine have assumed complete and sole responsibility," she said.

Cowles said the changes "concern only the passages to which Mrs. Kennedy objected on personal grounds." "We are satisfied," he said, "with the outcome of the discussions."

Richard N. Goodwin, a former aide to President Kennedy who is acting as Mrs. Kennedy's adviser, made the final revisions in the serialization.

There were at least 12 principal passages in the book that Mrs. Kennedy wanted adjusted. The suit against Harper & Row and Manchester still stands. They have been ordered into court next Tuesday for a hearing, but this could be postponed by the court if a delay is that the changes involved "approximately 1,600 out of 80,000 authorized words, but that they 'in no way affected the historical accuracy or completeness of Mr. Manchester's manuscript.'"

Mrs. Kennedy, in what was interpreted by some as an apparent but indirect allusion to President Johnson, said in her statement:

"I have been told there are historical inaccuracies and unfair references in this book. That they have been written is unfortunate. However, it was clear before bringing this suit that historical judgments, even if inaccurate, could not properly be suppressed by a court of law. In time, history will deal fairly and justly with this period."

Several persons who have read the book reported that it shows a hostility by the Kennedys towards Johnson and depicts the President in an unfavorable light. Some of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's advisors feel that it could further strain the political relationship between Johnson and Kennedy and possibly have an adverse effect on the Democratic senator's political future.

A source close to the Kennedy family said earlier in the week sought by the defendants while that members of the family also they try to work out an agreement.

Much of the material Mrs. Kennedy objected to already has been reported in newspapers and magazines.

Earlier Wednesday publishing industry sources said that objectionable passages of an intimate personal nature that Manchester agreed to delete even before the suit was filed probably will appear in contraband versions of the book. The contraband versions presumably also would include the changes made in the Look agreement.

A spokesman for Harper & Row indicated that duplicates of the 1,200 page typewritten text were made while 25 copies were circulating among prospective bidders for magazine rights. He said he felt duplicates were "almost certainly" sold to outlaw publishers in Formosa.

A Look magazine editor confirmed that "at least one" reproduction of the manuscript was made while editors there were considering purchasing serialization rights.

Nicholas Drive School presented its Christmas program this week for the enjoyment of a large audience of parents and friends as part of a PTA function.

The program began with first, second and third grade students each singing a group of three Christmas songs Linda Davies was the piano accompanist for the last song by the third grade.

The sixth grade presented a play, "The Bird's Christmas Carol," directed by Mrs. Langlan. Organ music for the play was provided by Lisa Davis.

The fourth and fifth grades each presented a selection of carols. The musical portion of the program was under the direction of Paul Dunkle.

The finale was "The Drum Carol," sung by the sixth grade. The drum solo was performed by Tom Taylor Klara Tammany accompanied the group at the piano and Mr. Marshall directed.

No business meeting was conducted. Mr. Don Schlewetz reminded the audience that the PTA sponsors children's movies the first Saturday of each month.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Thursday, Dec. 22, the 356th day of 1966. There are 9 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1944, German panzer units isolated and demanded the surrender of the 101st Airborne Division in Belgium. The temporary commander of the 101st, Gen. Anthony McAuliffe, gave his famous reply: "Nuts."

In 1807, Congress passed the Embargo Act, prohibiting all from U.S. ports.

In 1894, French Capt. Alfred Dreyfus was publicly degraded on a charge of selling French military secrets to the Germans. He later was exonerated.

In 1941, Britain's Winston Churchill arrived in Washington to confer with President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In 1944, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appealed to Allied forces fighting the "Battle of the Bulge" in Belgium to turn the enemy's great gamble into his worst defeat.

Ten years ago—full-scale Anglo-French troop withdrawals from Egypt's Suez Canal Zone were completed. A United Nations emergency force then took over temporary control of the area.

Five years ago—President John F. Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan issued a joint communique at the end of a two-day conference in Hamilton, Bermuda. The communique said the Bermuda talks would form the basis for continued cooperation between the United States and Britain during the coming months on a great variety of questions.

CHS Grads Listed in 'Who's Who'

Two 1963 graduates of Circleville High School, now students at Capital University, have been selected to become members in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

The honored students are Miss Carolyn Walters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Walters, Route 4, and Carl Zehner, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Carl Zehner, E. Mound St.

To be eligible, a student must be a junior or senior and enrolled in graduate courses. These students were nominated for the honor by a student faculty administration committee and were further approved by a member of the faculty or administration.

They were selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, cooperation in educational and extracurricular activities, citizenship and potential for the future.

Each will receive a certificate of achievement and recognition in the annual publication. The students recognized in the publication are nominated from over 750 colleges and universities.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development has made the nation's first payment under the new rent subsidy program.

The $819 check will help pay the rent of 13 elderly persons living in the Lorain, Ohio, Firelands Retirement Center. Names of the beneficiaries were withheld under government regulations.

A qualifying tenant pays 25 per cent of his income for rent and the Federal Housing Administration pays the landlord the balance.

To qualify, a single person must have income of $2,600 or less and a married couple $3,600 or less.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has laid down rules for election of the Senate majority leadership at the Senate Democratic Conference just before the 90th Congress convenes Jan. 10.

Three senators already have announced for the only expected vacant post — secretary to the Democratic conference. Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida, who now holds the job, is retiring.

Those who have telegraphed or contacted their 61 Democratic colleagues asking their support for the post are Sens. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma.

Mansfield and Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the assistant leader, are expected to be re-elected to the other two leadership posts without opposition or formal voting.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some Southern Republicans are mentioning Sens. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and John G. Tower of Texas as possible favorite-son candidates for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

Rep. Albert W. Watson, R-S.C., said Wednesday the Thurmond candidacy "is in the talking stage," but that no organized drive was under way. Tower is being mentioned by other Southern and conservative-minded Republicans.

School Bus Accident Fatal to 8

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Tons of sand spilled from a tractor-trailer onto a school bus loaded with 30 children Wednesday, crushing the bus, killing eight youngsters and injuring 13.

The 10 tons of wet sand cascaded onto the bus as the trailer flipped over after turning a corner and scraping the side of the bus at an intersection near Windsor, a city across the Detroit River from Detroit.

"The kids were yelling their heads off. It was pitiful," said Gerald Gemus, 31, of Oldcastle, Ont. Gemus, who arrived at the scene just after the accident occurred, added, "I hope I never see anything like it again."

The bus was carrying the children home from Frith School in Maidstone, with one day of school left before Christmas Holidays. Most of the children lived in the Oldcastle area near Windsor.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1944, German panzer units isolated and demanded the surrender of the 101st Airborne Division in Belgium. The temporary commander of the 101st, Gen. Anthony McAuliffe, gave his famous reply: "Nuts."

On this date: In 1807, Congress passed the Embargo Act, prohibiting all from U.S. ports.

In 1894, French Capt. Alfred Dreyfus was publicly degraded on a charge of selling French military secrets to the Germans. He later was exonerated.

In 1941, Britain's Winston Churchill arrived in Washington to confer with President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

In 1944, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower appealed to Allied forces fighting the "Battle of the Bulge" in Belgium to turn the enemy's great gamble into his worst defeat.

Ten years ago—full-scale Anglo-French troop withdrawals from Egypt's Suez Canal Zone were completed. A United Nations emergency force then took over temporary control of the area.

Five years ago — President John F. Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan issued a joint communique at the end of a two-day conference in Hamilton, Bermuda. The communique said the Bermuda talks would form the basis for continued cooperation between the United States and Britain during the coming months on a great variety of questions.

CHS Grads Listed in 'Who's Who'

Two 1963 graduates of Circleville High School, now students at Capital University, have been selected to become members in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

The honored students are Miss Carolyn Walters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Walters, Route 4, and Carl Zehner, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Carl Zehner, E. Mound St.

To be eligible, a student must be a junior or senior and enrolled in graduate courses. These students were nominated for the honor by a student faculty administration committee and were further approved by a member of the faculty or administration.

They were selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, cooperation in educational and extracurricular activities, citizenship and potential for the future.

Each will receive a certificate of achievement and recognition in the annual publication. The students recognized in the publication are nominated from over 750 colleges and universities.

Those who have telegraphed or contacted their 61 Democratic colleagues asking their support for the post are Sens. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development has made the nation's first payment under the new rent subsidy program.

The $819 check will help pay the rent of 13 elderly persons living in the Lorain, Ohio, Firelands Retirement Center. Names of the beneficiaries were withheld under government regulations.

A qualifying tenant pays 25 per cent of his income for rent and the Federal Housing Administration pays the landlord the balance.

To qualify, a single person must have income of $2,600 or less and a married couple $3,600 or less.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has laid down rules for election of the Senate majority leadership at the Senate Democratic Conference just before the 90th Congress convenes Jan. 10.

Three senators already have announced for the only expected vacant post — secretary to the Democratic conference. Sen. George A. Smathers of Florida, who now holds the job, is retiring.

Those who have telegraphed or contacted their 61 Democratic colleagues asking their support for the post are Sens. Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma.

Mansfield and Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, the assistant leader, are expected to be re-elected to the other two leadership posts without opposition or formal voting.

School Bus Accident Fatal to 8

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — Tons of sand spilled from a tractor-trailer onto a school bus loaded with 30 children Wednesday, crushing the bus, killing eight youngsters and injuring 13.

The 10 tons of wet sand cascaded onto the bus as the trailer flipped over after turning a corner and scraping the side of the bus at an intersection near Windsor, a city across the Detroit River from Detroit.

"The kids were yelling their heads off. It was pitiful," said Gerald Gemus, 31, of Oldcastle, Ont. Gemus, who arrived at the scene just after the accident occurred, added, "I hope I never see anything like it again."

The bus was carrying the children home from Frith School in Maidstone, with one day of school left before Christmas Holidays. Most of the children lived in the Oldcastle area near Windsor.
